So, am I correct in assuming you mine cryptocurrency and then use that cryptocurrency to purchase gaming gold elsewhere? [warn]

You're mining virtual game items with Auto Game Gold.

Payout is at 500k OSRS GP.

If you where to mine just cryptocurrency then the payout amount is way higher and takes longer to mine.

He's asking how it works.

How do you acquire this osrs gold?

Do the people in your program mine a crypto currency which you use to buy osrs?

We have our own supply of OSRS gold, we use that to provide payouts to your in-game character.

Hence I'm asking what your users are actually mining.

G... If you supply the osrs... the users don't mine it.

They mine something else which you compensate them with osrs.

What does your software actually mine..?

Currently V1 of our software application uses Ethereum network.

Our next version, V2 of our software application will allow users to select the type of network, algorithm, game and much more.

Our users register with the intent to mine OSRS gold.

Software application mines ETH.

You can't hide that info. Crypto mining is illegal in some parts of the world and that makes your software illegal as well.

How we hiding information ? We advertise to our users that they are using blockchain technology on the front page of our website ?

And crypto mining is legal in our country. We are a registered company with lawyers and accountants on one finger. Our software is 100% legal to use.

Guess if your country makes crypto mining illegal, then don't use our software.
In your case, I highly doubt it.

Thank you.

I have all the answers, when you actually ask the right questions regarding our service.

So you're mining crypto off other people's PC's and then paying out like half of the profit for the end user in osrs gp? lol

Yes.

However you're able to get your payout much more faster with us, then your regular mining pool.

Will be reporting all posts who trash talk. This thread is a sales thread, not an argument for little kids thread, so take it else where.

Might as well shit talk BTC/ETH while you're all at it.
