

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: TikTok CPA journey goal

Eran - March 9, 2022, 2:39 am

Completely new to CPA. This is the first method I'm ever trying. The only thing I have right now is a CPAbuild account and my TikTok page.

I chose a niche for which I am pretty interested in, and I have my own content, so it's all generic. I followed people from my niche and have been posting one video daily. I see exponential growth. I plan to do a fake giveaway soon. Instead of spamming it to everyone now, I grew my page slowly with the right audience, gaining 40-80 followers daily. I'm at 940 followers now and when I hit 1k I will be able to post clickable links in my bio.

My next plan is to build a nice landing page and choose a good offer, make everything look super clean before going for the kill. I have no idea what to expect from this, it could completely be a waste of time, or it could turn out better than I could have ever imagined.

My next method is a YouTube one. The TikTok one seemed more simple which is why I chose it so I can dip my water into CPA. The YouTube one requires more investment and work.

I will keep this thread updated ??

WebBots - March 9, 2022, 5:54 am

Hi, you should think more long term rather than hitting them with ads right away

instead of using just a landing page you might want to consider making a blog where your content will also be posted, this makes it much easier to expand in other niches if you decide to take that route

it also opens up more possibilities for converting traffic, such as any video older than a month can only be viewed by completing a content locker(also keeps your blog looking nice since you won't be using as many ads)

i've been in cpa for a long time and for me lots of people fail because they instantly start placing ads on the sites rather than trying to grow something

just my 2 cents, feel free to hit me up if you want to discuss it further

Eran - March 9, 2022, 6:01 am

(Mar 9, 2022 06:54 AM)WebBots Wrote: CITE Hi, you should think more long term rather than hitting them with ads right away

instead of using just a landing page you might want to consider making a blog where your content will also be posted, this makes it much easier to expand in other niches if you decide to take that route

it also opens up more possibilities for converting traffic, such as any video older than a month can only be viewed by completing a content locker(also keeps your blog looking nice since you won't be using as many ads)

i've been in cpa for a long time and for me lots of people fail because they instantly start placing ads on the sites rather than trying to grow something

just my 2 cents, feel free to hit me up if you want to discuss it further

Well it is a quite specific niche, and I don't see it growing anywhere other than TikTok. My page is about 1.5 month old, and it's slowly growing. Ofcourse it will take me another few weeks to set everything up since I am very busy, but the page is exponentially growing. I am replying to every comment and engaging with my followers quite a lot, so it looks legit. I also have a passion for the niche that I am doing and I think that is visible because it is my own content. I do not plan on making a lot, if I make $10 daily as a beginner with only TikTok I will be happy, since I will be setting up YouTube and Instagram too (all different niches), and I already have a few other side hustles. I'm just looking to make another passive income stream, not become rich.

Do you mind if I hit you up in a week or two when I start setting everything up? Just in case I don't understand something?

diablospartan - March 9, 2022, 11:32 pm

I will choose a method where involves affiliate marketing and i can promote any offer i want for example clickbank offers ,with cpa offers you dont know what will happen it can disapear at any time like ppd offers

Production - March 21, 2022, 10:44 am

Eran, this is all great stuff you're working on, you're on the right track! Tik tok is still incredibly underrated and with the right niche you can hit goldmine ROI's. Hope to hear more from you!

Eran - March 23, 2022, 7:00 am

So I'm busy right now with other stuff so I can't proceed to the monetizing part of this method, but I will just keep posting and growing my audience in the meanwhile.

Zamal - May 25, 2022, 9:55 am

Is there any new update from you?

Eran - May 25, 2022, 10:29 am

(May 25, 2022 09:55 AM)Zamal Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is there any new update from you?
Hey!

Life got in the way, so I lost focus and motivation so I did not work on this anymore. Haven't posted in 45 days but old posts are still getting attention. I will definitely not give up on this, next month I will have a lot more organic content for the niche I'm doing, and I will try to execute it. Will post an update.

agedytaccs - July 14, 2022, 8:23 pm

I tried tik tok once but they banned my account. How was it around for you?

RobTheRobin - August 3, 2022, 5:59 pm

Don't give up brother never give up

Eran - August 20, 2022, 6:23 am

I haven't posted anything in months there, I'm still getting activity. I also have a lot of organic content that I made during the summer, and I will be editing some videos and start posting again. I am thinking of going a very slow approach, right now I am almost at 2k followers. I want to steadily build my audience to 10k for this specific niche, and then monetize the account somehow. Opinions on this?

sweetangellis - July 11, 2023, 4:23 am

I dont think it is worth it to run one account only on TikTok, takes up way to much time and you need a huge audience to actually make a living off of it. Feel free to DM me qingque - February 15, 2024, 10:23 pm

cool ig keep that up for sjre

PreceI025 - February 26, 2024, 5:50 am cool strategy i think it gonna works

DashPHP - February 26, 2024, 6:41 am

(Mar 9, 2022 03:39 AM)Eran Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Completely new to CPA. This is the first method I'm ever trying. The only thing I have right now is a CPAbuild account and my TikTok page.

I chose a niche for which I am pretty interested in, and I have my own content, so it's all generic. I followed people from my niche and have been posting one video daily. I see exponential growth. I plan to do a fake giveaway soon. Instead of spamming it to everyone now, I grew my page slowly with the right audience, gaining 40-80 followers daily. I'm at 940 followers now and when I hit 1k I will be able to post clickable links in my bio.

My next plan is to build a nice landing page and choose a good offer, make everything look super clean before going for the kill. I have no idea what to expect from this, it could completely be a waste of time, or it could turn out better than I could have ever imagined.

My next method is a YouTube one. The TikTok one seemed more simple which is why I chose it so I can dip my water into CPA. The YouTube one requires more investment and work.

I will keep this thread updated ??

hiii give us break down of how it went thanks....