So this is the first year in a long time I dont owe any money back, and Im waiting anxiously to get my refund XD.

It's been approved, just waiting on it to hit.

Have you gotten yours? If so how long did it take! ?

Jerry Smith - March 9, 2022, 7:24 pm

It takes 2-3 weeks unless you have some kind of special circumstances.

3 weeks max though (assuming you're in the US).

I just paid my taxes, not getting anything back

Denflola.a - March 10, 2022, 11:56 am

I worked like 8 different jobs last year. I don't know where to even start.

Envy - March 10, 2022, 4:41 pm

Reverse for me.

First year I've filed my taxes as self employed, and now every year I file them I will always owe the Government money.

Jokes on them though, it's like 1% of what I make a year.

It has been many, many years since I've had a refund from the government. I wait until the deadline every year before handing my money over to the government. They take enough of it throughout the year, I don't rush to stroking that check.

I totally didn't forget to file my taxes until right now.

Luckily I am in a situation in which I am still a full-time student and part-time employed which gives me a certain benefit on my taxes which essentially allows me to recuperate what I paid in on every paycheck.

Lilith - March 10, 2022, 11:02 pm

Yup. I filed the first day possible. Got mine back mid Feb.

Mine took a few weeks and I got a good amount back. I usually owe to state but I didn't this year.

Bluffer - March 12, 2022, 7:24 pm

Personally I am waiting for tax form from a employer last year before I can file.

Anyways question for the Americans, how much do you have to make before you actually pay some taxes and not just get a refund?

Nah I'm fucked, I haven't even filed my taxes yet. But it's w/e government never comes at me cuz they owe me money. They tried once and I challenged the IRS and they ended up paying me, they've left me alone ever since.

Yeah it was a huge mess and I knew they owed me money... I had to send in certified envelopes and I guess something happened with the mail machine when they sent me my check because it took 6 months + has rips in it when I got it.
