Thread: Halo infinite has the most worst gaming experience

People quitting out of ranked, constant crashes, low ping being EXTREMELY rare, melee range, radar range, aim on controller and lack of aim assist (controversial somehow), ranked punishing losses unnecessarily hard, delays on features, lack of content, matchmaking being broken, no customisation, bullshit prices, silly challenges, no progression system, no social features, weird UI, poor weapon balancing, vehicles are useless, team balancing is always off, no server select, SBMM, spawning is absolutely atrocious, no input based MM, no audio from behind sometimes, no roadmap for planned fixes... am I fucking missing anything?

Sorry I just really needed to vent.

Eh i really haven't had any problems other than when i lag its so annoying not only are you teleporting your guy aims left to right and sometimes when playing tactical slayer had a game where id put a whole clip in they're head and they one shot me lol

I was one rank away from onyx, played from the beginning.. other than some weird melee hitreg and some insane controller aim assist I think it's a great game tbh.

Wasn't aware of most of these issues that's crazy.

This game sends me into full fledge rage mode. It's nothing like Halo 3, and that will be it's downfall. People were playing when it came out, but the amount of people who have switched to another game by now is crazy. Short-lived due to it's mountain of unresolved issues.

Yeah I haven't played since MP first came out. I reached around level 50 in the battle pass and really enjoyed it, but yes, there were a ton of bugs.

It just doesn't hit like Halo 3 did sadly.
