Congratulations, best wishes for your marriage.

One recommendation to assist your success in your marriage - marriage counseling. Start it before there is a problem so that you and your spouse can work through problems in a healthy manner.

Failed marriages often go to marriage counseling when it's too late, and successful marriages go to it when there is nothing wrong.

Thank you for your kind words and guidance!

Hopefully we will not need counseling but if so then you are absolutely right to go when the issues haven't escalated.

Much love

Love you all!!Congrats brother, that is the right way to do it my man. When is the wedding? Will it be big or simple? A hall? Restaraunt? By a lake? Or what?

Thank you so much man?

The wedding will be in august.

We are going for a restaurant, and there will probably be around 200-300 guests.

Fu k me right?

I'm scared as fuck.. let's hope for the best.

After the wedding blows over I might go on vacation just to cool off and just chill with my wife. You know stress relief

- lots of love x0n!

- lots of love x0n!Am getting married too myself but in July haha. Holy shit man, thats alot of people lool good luck with that bro. My wedding will be only around 60-70 people close family and friends only. You should deffo go on honeymoon to spend alone time with wife, you would both need it trust me. Maybe go abroad or somewhere nice in countryside. It is nerve wrecking no matter how confident you are, but the wedding is literally one day compared to the eternity you are going to spend with your wife. Thats something to think about bro, and I wish you and your wife good health and to keep that bond strong Congratulations my friend. I wish you all the best. I was listening to a podcast from Tim Dillon just then and he mentioned to always keep some 'danger' in your relationship..

I just thought I'd post that as it is kind of a coincidence that I saw this post.

Good luck to both of you ??
