Hey, these guys won't respond to me anymore even though I sent their money back. I wasn't open to paying "late fees" so the disputes remained opened. However if you're a very trusted exchanger on here I will go first without a doubt.

This man is lying through his teeth and has not sent any money back to me. The dispute has nothing to do with fees if you check the logs of the convo which I posted in the dispute. Highly suggest against going first with this person.

I have $1400 in btc, looking for venmo.

Happy to go first with you, providing you sort out your two disputes.

Klaus, do not PM me again. I will deal with you once you sort out your two disputes. Since you can't follow instructions, I think it's clear to see what your goal is here.
