Thread: What's worth fighting ? My latest fight!

Excellentum - April 4, 2022, 2:50 am

The last time I fought was like a year ago, and the reason was that a dude twice the size of my friend was insulting him. Usually, I am a chill guy and try to avoid fights as I think it's pointless, but when it comes to my friends or family I am always ready for the smoke, plus I was drunk enough that night! I punched the bully once and he fell like the rat he was! I just spoke with my friend about the situation 10 minutes ago and we laughed.

So I wanted to ask you, would you have done the same thing if you were me?

And what's the one thing that can get you out of control and would be worth fighting? ???

Last time I fought was like 4 years ago, at a party. dude like to get into peoples faces and you just can't have that. some fights are warranted but generally try to avoid them because most of the time they're not worth it, but when you're under the influence it can be fun.

I would probably told the bigg lad to fuck off, and if he tried anything, bang him in da face.

But i guess you skipped that part xD.

Passifist here, there's almost always way better solutions than fighting. Last time I was forced to fight was waaaay back in 2004 or something like that, guy just came at me n wanted to fight...or more like slap like a lil biatch...first two times he tried to come at me I just put him rather hard down on his back. Third guy he came at me I didn't slow his fall at all, took him by his throat, threw him like a rag doll on his back so that his lungs emptied out and at that point I put my elbow on his throat and almost ended the guy. Told him that if he stands up a 3rd time then there won't be a 4th.

The weirdest part is that I still to this day have no clue why he even wanted to fight...

But yeah, there's imo always better solutions unless it's more like self defence. In some cases you can get a rather good passifist revenge on people too ;)

I try to avoid physical altercations at most costs usually. There are typically better ways of solving your problems.

As I said . Usually I am a chill and humble guy and I try to avoid fighting as well, but it was not the case! He deserved it and I lost control (a big factor is that I was drunk) and I just did what I thought had to be done! ???

I don't ever drink so I don't suppose I can relate, but I don't disagree that he deserved it. Sometimes people get what's coming to them.

Yeah , I just can't tolerate someone messing with my friends or family and it's easier to provoke me by doing such a thing! I do not regret what I did! ???

Someone messing with someone old or someone that does not have the strength to defend himself

As I mentioned - I am not a fighting guy! Most of the time I try to be humble and not solve my problems with physical contact, but in this situation, I just felt like I had to!

Yeah ?? It was like Venom was inside me and did it lightning-fast! I didn't even think about talking with him or asking him to stop. I just saw him falling and we went back to the club! I am repeating myself - he deserved it and I do not regret what I did! F him! ???

There are situations when the smoke is inevitable! And when it happens, you better punch first and punch hard! ????

Life is not about regrets so that is good. ?

Indeed! Plus I hope this guy has learned his lesson and tries not to bully people twice smaller than him or bully people at all!

Rionxee - April 4, 2022, 9:42 am

I've never fought anyone, I think fighting gives you a bad image and it just looks lowbrow to me. I generally avoid any altercations because it's not worth the hassle and any repercussions that may happen, even if I do want to sock someone in the face I really just walk away and leave the situation.

Sometimes you've gotta learn the hard way. ?

I feel you brother, but sometimes it's inevitable! I am not saying that it was the case, but still! I have had a situation where 3 people were coming to beat me and I knew it, so I couldn't avoid what was going to happen, so I fought! What was I supposed to do ... RUN!? Don't think so! ???

Unfortunately, that's true! But it is what it is! ??

Yep. Sometimes you're the Will Smith and let's face it... sometimes you're the Chris Rock.
