

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Starting a clothing brand. Need help with some designs/mockups

HackCraig - April 16, 2022, 8:25 am

Alright boys, I've recently decided I have wanted to start my own little project on the side, and its making a clothing brand. It's something I've wanted to do for a while now so I said fuck it and wanna give it a go. Why not?

Im not a very creative person tbh, and could really use some help with some designs/mockups - If anybody wants to make some in their own time for free I would be grateful - but I also dont mind paying for some cool shit. The logo right now is just a placement and probs wont be final. But I still want to start getting some designs/ideas.

The brand name is LiveYours and this is the (temp) logo for now:

<https://imgur.com/SsCojkW>

Im open to any designs so whatever you feel just go for it - If anyone wants to jump on this project with experience and wants to help just reach out to me - this is all quite new to me.

Heres a design I have done myself so you guys can get any ideas from this - but like I said im not too creative so i'd really appreciate some help on this:

<https://imgur.com/KbIYaty>

[contract=tid]Start Contract[/contract]

N1ghtm4re - April 16, 2022, 9:58 am

Hi, although it is not what you were asking for I'd like to recommend taking the time to look on social media to find designs similar to what you like, then creating your own sketches on paper of what most inspired you from each look.

I also own a clothing brand, though I do streetwear, I find it the easiest in my process doing it this way.

Good luck though all the same r3byte - April 26, 2022, 6:07 pm

Hi, I'm happy to help with this. Drop me a PM if your still in need