This game is amazing, it is an homage to the earlier games but with a modern twist that seriously makes it just impeccable. I cannot truly express the level of nostalgia that this game really has to offer for older star wars fans especially those that have played the LEGO Star Wars games in the past. I'm extremely happy with this game.

What do other people think about this release?

I'm actually a huge fan, but not only because it's Star Wars, but because it's LEGO, their games always seems to have a certain level of humor that just gets to me.

Along with that it's even better cause it's Star Wars and yes, nostalgia makes it even better ?
Big hit in my opinion.

Personally never been a fan of Star Wars and so I didn't pick this game up, but I've seen mainly positive stuff about it which is always nice when it comes to new releases. Glad to hear you're enjoying it too.

The LEGO games are always good. Have you played the LEGO Indiana Jones games? Or LEGO DC Villains?

I personally tried it for around 30 minutes but couldn't enjoy it because the person I was playing it with has terrible internet, so the co-op function was almost unplayable. However we do share screens often, and he basically did a full play through and I'm generally blown away. The game has more thought and effort than most AAA titles these days, the open world and stuff like that was honestly a surprise. I think the fact it's a LEGO game makes some people reluctant, but I mean I grew up on these LEGO games and this one is a complete game changer, also who doesn't love LEGO as an adult?
