Thread: Option to save threads

BlackRaven - April 23, 2022, 1:56 am

Would be a good thing that you could save threads for later. Now I have to reply to threads in order to save them for later.

I usually add the threads I'm interested to in my favs on my browser.

There is also a button called "Subscribe to this thread", maybe there is somewhere a feature called "Threads you subscribed to" ? Don't know, never used this button tbh

At the thread title, you can click the tool icon and select "set reminder" to be reminded of this thread later.

The features mentioned here are more of a work-around and not efficient and those features are more annoying to me than useful. I appreciate the tips tho!

We have that. It's called thread subscriptions and it's at the bottom of every thread ("Subscribe to this thread"). You can even get notified of new replies for a number of ways, e.g. notifications, email, etc.

You can view the list of your subscribed threads in your user CP.

I actually have a plan to adopt Bookmarks into the actual Subscription system. It's part of my Projects. Please be patient.
