I would advise looking for a different tool because the dev got banned from HF and also the source code was analyzed and has been noted by many people its a reskin of async

OP was prob talking about xVulnerable, the guy who used to sell a RAT called Pegasus a few months ago, i dont see how my joke still was not funny

the NSO Group made malware called Pegasus, this guy makes a post asking for the Pegasus malware dev's contact, when in reality its a massive company out in Israel, pretty funny

Pegasus is back on the forum as a different person selling the same reskinned product Lol, it's not hard to see which one is his though

That's prob his account aswell Lol, though he seems to be a bit more friendly on his new alias so I don't mind him selling his reskinned product since all the buyers are retards anyway
