

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Recruiting Greyhat Hackers

900J900 - May 4, 2022, 7:48 am

Hello

I am looking for a select few reliable and moral GreyHat hackers, who have experience or the confidence to work on both sides of the fence.

Initially, there will be a few tests to make sure you have the capabilities to undertake such work.

The work will be adhoc, with a flurry of requests from time to time. The work would be defensive and offensive for a variety of business/private clients

Your Safety and security - this is one of the main things I care about for you. I want to know that wherever you are in the world that digitally you can undertake this work safely. And that if a local or international Government takes interest in the work that it does not lead back to you or me. As there are some countries Governments that are not keen on such activities.

Payment - this will depend on the activity undertaken, but if it is a longer term/complex problem the payment will reflect this.

Please include your seperate contact details within the email, such as Wickr or Telegram.

Please email the following address with a brief discription of your capabilities and experience to date (be generic and brief)

900j900@protonmail.com

look forward to hearing from you