isnt it promoting spam if you're supposed to have at least one post to be a ble to download stuff?

The idea is that you should make HQ posts to benefit the forum.

It gets you to explore the forum and for you to contribute, then you are able to have limits removed. Without this, the site would be overrun with spam and junk accounts.

No because you risk getting banned for spam. lol Most likely you would get a warning and too many warnings can lead to a ban.

There are plenty of topics to make genuine posts in. You can talk about your girlfriend, cat, books, ways you make money. Just look around the forum.
