Thread: Which online storage services provide static direct download links?

The Government - May 14, 2022, 3:22 am

I'm looking to host my dns updater it's a txt file but obviously as it's to update my dns for my RAT... it needs to be a static download link. I know dropbox and google drive link changes after a certain amount of downloads or time. I need a direct link that I can edit the txt file of. Please let me know any solutions you think.

wrong, there are.

but just rent a VPS, start NGINX and put the txt onthere, it would be best.

After doing some research I have found a solution and am proud to say I have bypassed the governments hacks to stop me from ratting/my clients connecting. If you think you need this tutorial too PM me.

What do u mean? Upload the file to a chat on discord then right click and copy the link
Then there u have direct download link hosting

Yeah, I messaged him about it. He didn't respond.
discord will ban you for hosting malware, happend to me many times.

the best way to make a direct link is to just buy a cheap offshore shared hosting
