

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Would you like to be immortal ?

Excellentum - May 29, 2022, 7:32 am

I genuinely believe that immortality is possible and one day we'll figure it out! And I honestly would love to be immortal (and all my beloved ones, because to outlive everybody you love would be the hardest part)

And, yeah, I am aware of the possible consequences, but I am pretty sure we'll manage to handle the situation or at least I hope so!

What about you?

x0n - May 29, 2022, 7:47 am

I don't think I'd like to be immortal, imagine being 200 years old looking like a potato..

The world is going in the wrong direction, I don't want to be here to see it collapse (my personal opinion before you all start raging)

But would be cool to see what new technology develops.

-x0n

webdev77 - May 29, 2022, 8:00 am

Absolutely not. It'd be pretty cool to be able to see what earth looks like in say 200 years or so, but no way would I want to actually live that long.

Excellentum - May 29, 2022, 8:09 am

(May 29, 2022 07:59 AM)Davkul Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Except the idea is that you possibly wouldn't look like a potato. We're talking about immortality, realistically the only way to achieve that would be to somehow stop the aging process of our cells, to be exact we'd need to have full control over our cells and other than that we'd need complete access to the content of the human brain - but we would never be totally immortal, it'd have to be something along the lines of Altered Carbon (the tv series), so this means that once your current self dies you will then reawake in a different body or even better a clone of your own.

Doesn't matter if we will be able to physically live forever or if we will find a way to transfer our mentality into a different body. The main question is would you like to be immortal the way you imagine it (not being like a potato or anything like that) ??

(May 29, 2022 08:00 AM)webdev77 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Absolutely not. It'd be pretty cool to be able to see what earth looks like in say 200 years or so, but no way would I want to actually live that long.

It would definitely be cool and why you wouldn't want to live that long? Let's say the future will keep getting better and better. What would be the reason for you not wanting to explore it ?

Excellentum - May 29, 2022, 8:21 am

(May 29, 2022 08:19 AM)Davkul Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I mean yeah personally I would, but I'm just saying immortality is convenient for pretty much anyone; the ones who act like "who tf wants to live for that long" should realize that the only reason why they feel that way about it is that life as mortals is pretty much miserable, so when they answer that question they don't take into account the fact that life as immortals would be void of reasons to stress over, unhappiness, unsatisfaction, frustrations - they would be literally free.

Definitely ! ??? I can't understand why someone wouldn't want to be immortal. Even if you are not on the top of the world (if you and your beloved ones are healthy) LIFE IS BEAUTIFUL ! ???

V?rt - May 29, 2022, 8:39 am

Nah, I would hate to be immortal and see my loved ones leave me. I also think It would just end up being too boring. Maybe living 200-500 years or something would be cool but not forever. That's not how things are meant to be

Blunt - May 29, 2022, 8:40 am

Nope. This life is already terrible enough lol shmatka - May 29, 2022, 8:55 am

It would for sure be possible i think very soon in like 20 30 years for some chosen people. Yes i'd lik to be one too why not.

SoulHarvester - May 29, 2022, 9:07 am

Yes but you would deal with so much in your lifetime that I couldn't imagine it always being sunshine and rainbows.

Excellentum - May 29, 2022, 9:26 am

(May 29, 2022 08:39 AM)V?rt Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Nah, I would hate to be immortal and see my loved ones leave me. I also think It would just end up being too boring. Maybe living 200-500 years or something would be cool but not forever. That's not how things are meant to be
And what about all your beloved ones are immortal as well? ?

(May 29, 2022 08:55 AM)shmatka Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It would for sure be possible i think very soon in like 20 30 years for some chosen people. Yes i'd lik to be one too why not.
You are probably right about the chosen people! ?

Excellentum - May 29, 2022, 11:02 am

(May 29, 2022 10:44 AM)phantomman55 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) but what if you end up going mad? If you're immortals eventually you will know how everything works and why everything exists and then will be bored of this world and you're going to keep living day by day bored and depressed because you know everything and don't need to learn more.

It's like would you watch a single favorite tv show you love over and over for all eternity? Wouldn't you get bored and then want to watch something else but in this scenario you can't.

Life will keep changing forever. You will never know everything there will always be something to explore, learn and etc. We are talking about immortality which means you can live so long that we don't even have the number to describe it. I am pretty sure that if you live long enough at some point humanity will be able to live on a different planet, after that ? different Galaxy, and perhaps one day a different Univers?! Infinity exists in theory - what if it exists in practice? ?????

molly69 - May 29, 2022, 11:13 am

Fuck nope. This world sucks and I wouldn't be on this planet forever.

Excellentum - May 29, 2022, 11:22 am

(May 29, 2022 11:11 AM)phantomman55 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How do you know everything changes? I doubt it. I feel like you will get to a point where you would know how everything works and runs and you can even create people or animals and after doing this you will eventually have nothing else to learn and it will be boring. It will turn in to a curse afterwards. I can see at the start seems like a good idea but eventually you will be bored out of your mind. Eventually you will have visited everywhere in the universe and will know if there's an end to the universe.

I highly doubt that the universe will keep changing. I think it will change based on adaptations but the systems and concepts will always be the same. You will end up going mad in the long run.

You are looking from a human's perspective! I truly believe that the Universe even if it's just the one we know is so much more complicated than we expect! Stuff like infinity is something that we people can't fully understand and we always think that everything has a beginning and an end ... but it can be otherwise which means you will never know everything! ???

A10247 - May 29, 2022, 12:11 pm

I think technology will advance to the point where immortal people will invent technology to be able to die.

jgfhgkjgk - May 29, 2022, 12:44 pm

Being immortal and seeing every situation just repeating itself, constantly doesn't sound so nice

Silkroad - May 29, 2022, 12:53 pm

If the choice was presented to me and I had to choose on the spot, I would definitely say yes.

You always have the option to kill yourself if you decide you don't want to be immortal anymore.

?nxy - May 29, 2022, 3:20 pm

We are immortal

Believe in god and Jesus Christ.

balera2212 - May 29, 2022, 7:09 pm

If you mean body I think you will get boring sooner or later.

SoulHarvester - May 29, 2022, 7:10 pm

(May 29, 2022 11:13 AM)molly69 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Fuck nope. This world sucks and I wouldn't be on this planet forever.

Could you imagine an eternity of people letting you down? Brutal.

Nullled clock - May 31, 2022, 4:22 pm

Immortality an interesting concept. Never really thought what it would be like to live forever. Unfathomable.

Ultras - May 31, 2022, 4:58 pm

I'm already exhausted. I can't imagine being stuck on this water covered rock forever

Nullusia - June 1, 2022, 1:25 pm

I think i'd get pretty bored being immortal.

I'd rather live normal but with another unique superpower, like mind reading or invisibility

65DUD - June 1, 2022, 3:45 pm

I would actually love to be immortal lol. I do have a lot of curiosity in what is going to happen in 500 years from now or how the world is gonna be by then.

Eran - June 1, 2022, 4:01 pm

Probably not. Life is a trip and I believe there is more waiting on the other side :)

TerminalJester - June 1, 2022, 4:16 pm

(May 29, 2022 07:32 AM)Excellentum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I genuinely believe that immortality is possible and one day we'll figure it out! And I honestly would love to be immortal (and all my beloved ones, because to outlive everybody you love would be the hardest part)

And, yeah, I am aware of the possible consequences, but I am pretty sure we'll manage to handle the situation or at least I hope so!

What about you?

I would not like to be immortal, as sad as people might see it, I hope to die one day. Not now or soon but one day.

Now immortal and rich, I can deal with. I don't want to spend forever working and paying bills and all that shit.

Upgrader - June 5, 2022, 4:14 pm

If this implies you can't die of natural causes and it simply slows down aging but can still die from accidents/intentional/etc, then yes.

anoncrab - June 7, 2022, 1:24 am

I feel like being immortal would be boring asf. Like I wouldn't mind living longer, but forever? I would get bored eventually lol.

Royal ! - June 7, 2022, 1:29 am

Our body's are not capable of that, so no. The skin will literally start peeling off, lol. I don't think there will ever be any such technology that will make us Immortal.

Jake Johnson - June 7, 2022, 5:32 am

I don't think I would enjoy being immortal. It might seem like a cool concept at first but then you'd be seeing how many generations come and go and you'd still be living. Would especially suck if some tragic shit happened and you are pretty much stuck living that out every day because you are immortal now.

rihosedemon - June 7, 2022, 5:41 am

If i had a trully bonded family and i could do everything like when i was young physically it would be an amazing experience. On the other hand if you don't have your people around you will be the hellish experience.

Free Kurdistan - June 7, 2022, 6:17 am

I'd probably love being immortal and watching the world develop into a game.

2xTheTap115 - June 7, 2022, 6:48 am

(May 29, 2022 07:32 AM)Excellentum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I genuinely believe that immortality is possible and one day we'll figure it out! And I honestly would love to be immortal (and all my beloved ones, because to outlive everybody you love would be the hardest part)

And, yeah, I am aware of the possible consequences, but I am pretty sure we'll manage to handle the situation or at least I hope so!

What about you?

I myself am not entirely convinced of the concept of immortality. In my opinion, a long-lived life would be just boring?

Migos - June 7, 2022, 7:11 am

(May 29, 2022 07:32 AM)Excellentum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I genuinely believe that immortality is possible and one day we'll figure it out! And I honestly would love to be immortal (and all my beloved ones, because to outlive everybody you love would be the hardest part)

And, yeah, I am aware of the possible consequences, but I am pretty sure we'll manage to handle the situation or at least I hope so!

What about you?

If i stay in my body from a 28yr old or 30yr old i would not mind to be immortal but i would like some super powers to come with it lol.

hayesh - June 7, 2022, 7:36 am

100% as long as i dont get physically older

Migos - June 7, 2022, 8:09 am

(Jun 7, 2022 07:36 AM)hayesh Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 100% as long as i dont get physically older Agreed. Also i want to have some kind of like advantage over the rest of the population besides not dieing like invisibility or something of that nature haha/vegetajgd - June 10, 2022, 1:37 am

(Jun 7, 2022 06:17 AM)Rudy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'd probably love being immortal and watching the world develop into a game.

You my friend are almost on it. The world is a game for the person who is immortal. :D

And ya would love to as well. but would want to eventually when everything turns to dust i should have the choice to go in that route as well. As being lonely my friend is not a life you want to have.

Raymond Reddington - June 10, 2022, 1:40 am

Being immortal would be pretty unfavorable if aging still happens the same way. When you're over a 100 years old, you'll be very very weak and frail so every passing day might be hard for you.

However, if you're talking about age remaining constant, then I'd think a lot of people would love to remain the same age.

Luffy-_- - June 10, 2022, 7:33 am

Why not, if all my family and friends will have immortality as well g9rz - June 25, 2022, 5:06 am no because you would see all your loved ones die over and over again and when your tired of living you wont be able to die and you'll regret the choice you took until the earth collapses and youll be floating in space thinking what the fuck have i done with my life

Lilith - June 26, 2022, 12:32 am

To what capacity? Do I just stop aging and can't be killed? Can my body just not be harmed under any circumstances? Do I just stay forever young but if I were to, say, be decapitated, I would die?

Generally, sure. I'd quite enjoy living forever. It would ease the stress of aging and time moving forward without me. The idea of drifting through time at my own pace without an urgency other than my own is greatly appealing.

?nxy - June 26, 2022, 1:41 am

We are all immortal.

I have proof that I can't explain.

I swear 100% there is an afterlife.

Shrooms - June 26, 2022, 4:02 am

I would also love to be immortal, wouldn't have a care in the world.

Komodo - June 26, 2022, 4:07 am

Fuck no, boring and having to live forever sounds like more of a negative than a positive.

Raymond Reddington - June 26, 2022, 5:28 am

I would prefer very much to time travel than become immortal. Experiencing different eras of history is an escapade no-one can put a price on.

Gary - June 26, 2022, 9:04 pm

Depends, would you be able to bare the pain of seeing all your loved ones passing away around you?

Craada - June 27, 2022, 10:14 am

(May 29, 2022 07:32 AM)Excellentum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I genuinely believe that immortality is possible and one day we'll figure it out! And I honestly would love to be immortal (and all my beloved ones, because to outlive everybody you love would be the hardest part)

And, yeah, I am aware of the possible consequences, but I am pretty sure we'll manage to handle the situation or at least I hope so!

What about you?

Completely agree. I'd love to live forever too

Excellentum - June 27, 2022, 1:52 pm

(Jun 26, 2022 05:28 AM)Raymond Reddington Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I would prefer very much to time travel than become immortal. Experiencing different eras of history is an escapade no-one can put a price on.

You are right but not quite .. What about the scenario where you are immortal and technology becomes so advanced that you can experience everything using eye drops like the drug that induces time-compressed virtual realities (from the movie OtherLife). Immortality opens way much more doors in my opinion! And that's just a drop in the ocean !

(Jun 26, 2022 09:04 PM)Gary. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Depends, would you be able to bare the pain of seeing all your loved ones passing away around you?

That's the worst in every scenario, but I am optimistic about the cryopreservation. Someday we'll manage to use the whole capacity of the idea or maybe we'll even find a better one! ???

Mr.Cat - June 27, 2022, 2:26 pm

some people are already immortal.. You just dont know it yet.

Gary - June 27, 2022, 2:29 pm

(Jun 27, 2022 02:26 PM)Mr.Cat Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) some people are already immortal.. You just dont know it yet.

The queen of England might be immortal.

Excellentum - June 27, 2022, 10:58 pm

(Jun 27, 2022 04:25 PM)Dyne Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It all depends on your definition of "Immortal", really. Some of us are.

MAAAN , those black hearts are COOL AF !!! I can't understand what you want to say . I mean physical immortality + not getting old (living forever) .

The Pact - June 27, 2022, 11:00 pm

Not so much. What I want is to redo my life with the knowledge I have now. But maybe not so much the being the kid part where I didn't have control of things anyway.

Excellentum - June 27, 2022, 11:02 pm

(Jun 27, 2022 11:00 PM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Not so much. What I want is to redo my life with the knowledge I have now. But maybe not so much the being the kid part where I didn't have control of things anyway.

What would you change? What would you do differently?

The Pact - June 27, 2022, 11:04 pm

(Jun 27, 2022 11:02 PM)Excellentum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What would you change? What would you do differently?

It's all probably too personal to talk about. Different parenting decisions. Acting differently in college so people wouldn't gossip about me and such.

?nxy - June 28, 2022, 12:22 am

WE ARE ALL IMMORTAL

BELIEVE IN JESUS CHRIST

HE IS YOUR SAVIOR AND TICKET INTO THE AFTERLIFE FOREVER

diablospartan - June 28, 2022, 1:35 am

Well life its short and peoole still dont are grateful for the life and dont valuate the life ,i think god make the life shorter that people be grateful but people dont understand ,they are bad ,envy on others etc .If we would be imortal people would be more bad ,etc