Wow. I think I saw five of them in this video. How many employees where there at that time? And what made the thugs run away?

You got to have a gun, I know liquor store employees do...

That sounds really scary. Is the store in a bad neighborhood?

Did you file a complaint with the police?

It's not a bad neighborhood at all. It's on the beaches in Florida. Cops came and got fingerprints and the security surveillance.

You got a gun for protection?

Only thing I got was a bruised lip after slamming his one friend into the ground the second I took him outside. One of them tried sucker punching me but noticed his punch didn't do anything and then fled off like cockroaches. I tried chasing them but they were faster. They didn't want that 6'5 beating lol

Only unfortunate thing was the window I slammed him in cracked everywhere. Having a window company come out later this week.

They started running when I charged them and grabbed one of them and slammed him into the window. I was the big dude in the video.

bk randy - June 6, 2022, 10:14 am

Damn, probably some teen thugs, half of them chickened out to even walk in, the rest ran off like roaches right when things flipped around, you're a big dude too, they were pretty dumb to have fucked with ur shop of all, especially being on a beach where people are always walking, won't be long till they fuck up bigger and spend life in jail, luckily you were fine...

Eran - June 6, 2022, 10:17 am

What a dumb thing to do, lmao, risking getting caught for blueberry flavored lung cancer.

I know right! However, I think 2 of them had backpacks on so I'm thinking they somehow thought they could grab a whole bunch of shit and throw it in their bags and then they'd go and sell whatever they took to underage kids who can't legally buy vape products yet.

That's exactly what they do. Cops been dealing with them before multiple times. Even the vape shop owner of another store 1 mile from me warned me about them a month ago cause they robbed his store 5+ times in the last month.

Yea I figured they were doing that with them wearing backpacks and coming in a larger group like that. I was finishing high school when juul became popular so I have seen firsthand how many underage kids are actually willing to pay over retail prices for vape products. Can these punks not find something better to do to make money?
