

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Online \(MMOs\) Vs Offline \(Mission Based Games\) Which one do you prefer & what game?

vegetajgd - June 10, 2022, 6:17 am

Well as things go more and more online. But which ones do you prefer? MMOs or the good old fashioned Mission based game.

Personally I love playing games with friends, doing stuff together but the i hate the part where MMOs like Dota 2 take a long ass time. And suppose if you get some urgent work in between. You cannot just pause, save and leave.

So i have a love hate relationship with MMOs, But only Love relationship with Offline.

My pick is Offline. And i have played many over the years but the last i played was Thief Simulator.. LMAO it was really awesome and i loved it. And i love FPS or Dragon Age or Hulk types games, Basically any combat/stealth based offline game i love.

WHAT'S YOU PICK ?

Sholi - June 10, 2022, 8:47 am

Both have their pros and cons. At one point in my life I only played singleplayer games and never stopped until I fully completed them. With time, I got bored and started half-assing them.

Ever since I started playing with friends online I just can't bare being completely alone in a game with no one to talk to but some NPCs lol. So for now I have to say, definitely Online.

vegetajgd - June 10, 2022, 9:26 am

(Jun 10, 2022 08:47 AM)Sholi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Both have their pros and cons. At one point in my life I only played singleplayer games and never stopped until I fully completed them. With time, I got bored and started half-assing them.

Ever since I started playing with friends online I just can't bare being completely alone in a game with no one to talk to but some NPCs lol. So for now I have to say, definitely Online.

To be completely honest, especially in the times like ours. Online games are also one of the places where you meet your friends which otherwise would not be possible say everyday or even twice or thrice a day.

But i have noticed as and when you start playing it regularly it sort of takes priorities over other things and you tend to loose out on that. As i personally had bad time controlling it so now i go the old fashioned way.

How is it for you, playing online does it hinder your IRL moments or get out of hand sometimes ?

sharona - July 27, 2022, 4:55 am

I prefer MMOs, because of I like the fact that even though I could be doing the same thing (killing map for example), it doesn't have to be boring coz of new ppl I can play with.

Lilith - July 27, 2022, 8:44 am

Used to prefer MMOs until I realized how much I dislike other people being involved in my personal time. Single player games have so much more creative freedom too.

jamsensei - July 29, 2022, 5:40 am

People have lives. We can schedule a time to physically get together once every 4-6 months. It's easier when we can waste an hour online playing together at this point. It does my head in, but it's a necessity. I miss those moments, but there's no way around it, at least in my situation.

fa89w0dh9a8wdh98 - July 31, 2022, 7:57 am

Offline is better imo because i can just relax more and chill

?OMEGA? - August 1, 2022, 7:12 am

If you love FPS Online Escape from tarkov anyday of the week.

90% of the game is missions.

Malthemar - August 1, 2022, 7:16 am

(Aug 1, 2022 07:12 AM)?OMEGA? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If you love FPS Online Escape from tarkov anyday of the week.

90% of the game is missions.

First-person Sleeper.

That game is the most boring shit I've ever played.

It's you and like 10 other people hiding for 25 minutes.

(Jun 10, 2022 06:17 AM)vegetajgd Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well as things go more and more online. But which ones do you prefer? MMOs or the good old fashioned Mission based game.

Personally I love playing games with friends, doing stuff together but the i hate the part where MMOs like Dota 2 take a long ass time. And suppose if you get some urgent work in between. You cannot just pause, save and leave.

So i have a love hate relationship with MMOs, But only Love relationship with Offline.

My pick is Offline. And i have played many over the years but the last i played was Thief Simulator.. LMAO it was really awesome and i loved it. And i love FPS or Dragon Age or Hulk types games, Basically any combat/stealth based offline game i love.

WHAT'S YOU PICK ?

I prefer online, mechanical, fast games.

vegetajgd - August 2, 2022, 2:49 am

(Aug 1, 2022 07:16 AM)Malthemar Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) First-person Sleeper.

That game is the most boring shit I've ever played.

It's you and like 10 other people hiding for 25 minutes.

I prefer online, mechanical, fast games.

Ahh then no to Games like DOTA as the min. amount of time for a game would be atleast 30-40 mins lmao.

Malthemar - August 2, 2022, 3:03 am

(Aug 2, 2022 02:49 AM)vegetajgd Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ahh then no to Games like DOTA as the min. amount of time for a game would be atleast 30-40 mins lmao.

I play League, DOTA is indeed too slow for me.

Sm0k3d0ut - August 4, 2022, 11:07 am

Online multiplayer is the way to go. Single player feels too slow and grindy. GtaV