Thread: Do you swear a lot?

Shrooms - June 15, 2022, 11:50 pm

I find myself swearing in almost every sentence I say, unless I am talking to my parent or grandparent.

I am from Scotland and it seems to be a lot more common to swear constantly here than in most countries, cunt basically means friend in Scotland. Just curious how it is for other parts of the world, and do you find yourself swearing a lot?

Upgrader - June 16, 2022, 12:16 am

Never filter myself with what I'm saying, sure I use them in general conversation although not too excessively.

SKYLINE 3 - June 16, 2022, 12:47 am

I do and it's one of my biggest demons. I need to watch my mouth. Being respectful is key. And I have a lot to work on honestly. I'm not perfect. Working hard toward being myself and the best I can be.

Vitani's Mate - June 16, 2022, 12:48 am

Fuck yeah man.

Pretty much in every sentence there is "fuck", "cunt", "shit" etc etc in it. :D

batman38102 - June 16, 2022, 12:52 am

Maybe when I was in high school but not much anymore. People started to point out how every of my sentence begins with a swear word and I got self conscious about it.

Yeah. If you live in Australia like me.

It is pretty normal to call someone a cunt.

I live in Scotland, I guess we are pretty similar since we call people cunt a lot haha bevc - June 16, 2022, 12:59 am

I do like and use the word 'fuck' a lot, otherwise I'm pretty vanilla. Apart from the odd 'shite'.

Not a fan of my favourite word cunt then?

Shite is a word we use in Scotland too much I think haha

I have heard it used IRL here ONCE, and I don't think I'll ever forget it.

Azythum - June 16, 2022, 1:17 am

I almost never swear. Don't have to often persuade that what I say is the truth.

I wouldn't say that is the reason I swear, why would swearing and being honest coincide?

I don't know maybe i don't know the meaning of swear in English, but for me, it's like calling God as a witness to what we say at that moment, in order to guarantee the truth.

Ah, I guess you can "Sweat to god" is what we would call that. In this context though swearing means to curse, like "Fuck", "Cunt", "Shit" etc..

For you I believe the better wording would be "Curse/Cursing", "fowl language". It's referred to as "swearing" not to be mixed up with "swearing to god"

Oki I understand, if you're using the word a lot, the meaning becomes less powerful.

No really, if I go for a friend-insult, I'll usually go for 'bellend' or 'nobber', something winky rather than tuppence related. I'm a chivalrous gent, what can I say.

"Cock"?

'Cock' is an example of "fowl" language.

Well i do not know how many of you will believe this, but i have done it like less than 10 times in my life up till now. Never felt the need to and never wanted to.

But in Ancient India there is a saying which has been followed all over the world not so much in the mainstream, so its like what we eat we become, and every word has its meaning and effect on us. Like certain words make you calm and well others have a certain other effect.

Oh man i just realised i could write an entire thread on this. I will create another explain what it is that i have in mind.

Anyway long story short. I do not curse/swear and have like done it less than 10 times my life uptil now. LOL

Free Kurdistan - June 16, 2022, 2:43 am

I swear waaay too much. Only when I'm at work or with parents I don't, otherwise it comes in every sentence lmao.

MrCrazy - June 16, 2022, 5:31 am

Every day, kind of just became part of my overall vocabulary over time.

Jake Johnson - June 16, 2022, 5:35 am

When I am out with friends and drinking yes I tend to swear a lot. When I am talking to my mom I rarely ever swear unless it adds to a story I'm telling etc... For me, there is a time and place for it. I also can respect those who don't care for swearing and I won't swear around them.

Net Hustler - June 16, 2022, 5:58 am

Fucktons I swear fucktons you have no idea man my entire vocabulary consists of swear words.

Nullusia - June 16, 2022, 10:13 am

Not as much, a few times a day but only around certain peoples.

I have a lot of scottish friends and they do use cunt often

Shrooms - June 16, 2022, 11:21 am

Not that often but I need to make a habit of using swear words less. I can't just shout "Fuck!" while I'm out or in a meeting.

Damn idk about you or your business but i know me i do this sometimes depending on how bad the mistake the employee or company as a whole is made.

Sometimes gives the employees a little more drive when a realize something is pretty serious.

I swear all the time. It adds a little spice to your bland sentences

Eran - June 24, 2022, 8:26 am

Balkan countries typically swear A LOT, so yes.

I usually try to speak without using profanity. Unless something or someone upside me then it is difficult for me to master myself.

In such situations, I can use the wording that I would not suspect myself?

7777777 - June 24, 2022, 1:36 pm

nah i cant take anyone who swears that serious.

Pound - June 24, 2022, 1:37 pm

Now and then, I wouldn't say often though.

Gary - June 24, 2022, 1:38 pm

I don't swear a much as I used to. However I went to school wtih someone who literally swore in every sentence. It was cringe ngl.

g9rz - June 25, 2022, 4:10 am

When I'm talking with my friends yeah, but if I'm talking to my parents or strangers then no.

Xerexo444 - June 25, 2022, 4:29 am

After a while it becomes a habit and it's hard to get rid of, I wouldn't prefer people who swear at the workplace, so it's very advisable for people to make sure swearing is not a frequent habit of theirs.

Lynx - June 26, 2022, 5:48 am

It is a standard to swear with decesses here so yes.

Blunt - June 26, 2022, 6:56 am

Only time I swear is when somebody's mom is on my D

Cuthbert - June 26, 2022, 8:04 am

I used to swear a lot before returning to the Christian faith.

"But now ye also put off all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth." - Colossians 3:8

"Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth" - Ephesians 4:29

I like to think i can turn it on or off depending on who i'm with. I don't think i'm TOO bad when with friends, but some masy say otherwise!

Laughing Man - June 28, 2022, 10:31 am

I mean, I was raised in a family where cursing wasn't allowed by the kids just the parents, so I curse a bunch now.

Nullusia - June 29, 2022, 3:07 pm

If I tell people I swear to god all the time does that include me in the naughty swearers group?
