Thread: CS:GO M4A1-S just got nerfed | SELL YOUR SKINS NOW

Shrooms - June 16, 2022, 3:30 pm

M4A1-S Just got nerfed and normal M4 prices are sky rocketing, if you're holding some even basic skins I'd get to selling now they are gonna spike like crazy.

Bit gutted as I preferred that gun over the M4, time to go back to non-silenced I guess.

Good luck lads.

Isn't going to cause much of a drop in price for skins.

They're just revoking the massive buff M4A1-s got. M4 was always the stronger weapon and most used in pro games. So i highly doubt this will change much. Price drop maybe for the first few days, but then you'll steadily see everything go back to where it was.

My FT ST nightmare dropped a little bit, but most of the price has restored pretty much.

Haha, I've never really seen any nerfs have big impact on prices in CS:GO. Everything has always been on an uptrend pretty much. But I agree if the M4 you have isn't considered a 'collectible' and there's a lot of them in fluctioation then you should probably sell it and try and buy it back at a lower price.

The only reason it had an impact is because it's two main guns that people chose to use. It's like have an alternative AK-47 and one got nerfed, the other would spike in price.

I've always liked M4A1S more as a gun, no matter at which point in the game. However M4A1 has better skins imo so I eventually always end up using it

Always like the m4a1-s I use the print stream, it's a great looking skin
