Thread: I got 150€ which I can use in digital goods. What should I buy?

Net - June 18, 2022, 1:01 am

Basically I have a 150€ voucher which can be used for any digital goods, but I am not sure what to buy. What would you suggest?

Edit: Voucher only applicable for physical digital goods.

Nope. a voucher given by the government to buy digital goods. Can't use it for anything beside that.

Digital goods is an interesting term, could this be used to purchase crypto?

I do not think so, but i guess you can look up at amazon what you need at home right now. I generally go in this direction, Needs > Requirement > WANT.

Personally I would get some new wireless earbuds, probably these specifically.

Probably going to pass on the wireless earbuds. So many teens are using the voucher (which was meant to be used so students have an easier time adjusting to the digitalized change of the school system) for earbuds or something else just to flex.

This morning I just found out that I am eligible for the voucher as well, but have no idea what to buy hence why I am looking for suggestions.

They're useful for working out or jogging and not getting yanked by the cord, I broke my last pair while on a run ?

To keep it simple: anything computer related (mouse, keyboard, headphones). Somewhat in that section. Honestly I am thinking of buying something then just sell it for a lower price online.

What about upgrading any components in your current PC?
