Hi All,

I'm a new learner here and wanted to know how has Python helped you in your job profile and what kind of programs have you executed. Would like to start from the simple one's but you can also brag about how it helped your company or impressed your managers !!

Depends on the kind of programs you want to make my dude!

For example if networking is your thing, stuff like reverse shells etc might be of benefit

Although you can use Python for pretty much anything (other than malware)

For me I just make scripts at work for some scientists. Just pulling data from a database and organizing it, nothing fancy.
