Thread: Get Your Money Off ALL EXCHANGES RIGHT NOW

Itachi Uchiha - June 19, 2022, 1:42 am

I've heard rumbles from credible sources about CB and CRO currently heavily in debt.

These are two of the top two exchanges in most of the world (Binance is #1 I believe)

Download Exodus, Coinbase Wallet(the wallet not the change), MetaMask, Safepal, trust wallet. There's so fucking many pick one and YouTube that shit.

I don't know if these exchanges will suffer liquidity issues, but why even chance it?

Not your keys not your crypto

Edit: Remember FTX founder(I believe) warned of this two months ago. Get your money off exchanges you idiots.

Truth - June 19, 2022, 2:07 am

Where is FTX founder warning? that dude is leveraged out his eyeballs too lol

People learn this the hard way every cycle.

Even some hardware wallets like ledger are not even fully open source thus verifiably safe.

The ONLY true safe wallet in the WORLD, of ALL OF CRYPTO. Is the Bitcoin Core wallet. The one that has been going since Bitcoin/crypto existed. If that one fails or has flaws, crypto could RIP.

Every and all other wallets can fail, ETH, etc, and Bitcoin will still live on. As long as the longest tried and true Bitcoin Core wallet is still around. The future is bright.

Cel did rewards and giveaways up until they locked all deposits/withdrawals. I think they're still giving rewards as they steal their customers money. But sure, you're the genius.

Only have 10k on coinbase rn and its on 4 day cool down after I bought it, but Im gonna move it off tonight.

I hate Coinbase. Im going to look into getting my FTX limits raised ASAP.

Swip3r - June 20, 2022, 4:16 pm

Chances are if your exchange offers any type of yield platform, you should be weary.

Regardless, always keep your crypto off exchanges.

webdev77 - June 20, 2022, 4:18 pm

Crypto isn't decentralized if you all keep your coins on centralized platforms.

I'd say that goes in the marketing budget; operating expenses lol.

Keep begging my mom and brother to get your coins off coinbase. -_-

They just don't listen to me.

shreder - June 20, 2022, 5:46 pm

What's the source though? Trust me bro

I agree you should keep most of your $$ off an CEX, but you need to list sources.

The coming recession is going to take a lot of big names down with it, at the expense of thousands if not millions of home investors. We're already seeing it happen and we haven't even hit the actual recession. A company like Coinbase, that's already bleeding so publicly, doesn't stand a chance to survive without outside support. Don't forget, if Coinbase goes bankrupt, your crypto isn't insured. They can't pay you, you lose your money. Full stop. No government bailout. No too big to fail. Just you and people like you getting fucked over because you were too lazy to setup a desktop wallet and pay the minimal transfer fees to withdraw.

What would you recommend as a good hardware wallet? Just ordered a ledger x a few days ago :/

Thanks for this. Unfortunately supports btc only so not good to me. There seems to be a big drop-off in terms of popularity and support for cold wallets after ledger and trezor. I went with ledger since they are the most proven and really. D'cent and SecuX for example look like more appealing wallets to me but Ledger looked like the 'safest' option for hodling.

I only have around 1.5k on CB but I couldn't agree with you more. I will be moving it to Exodus today.

I personally love Ellipal hardware wallet. Even got the pass phrase metal plates that are fire proof for the backup in case your house burns down.
