Thread: Worst hang over you had?

Blunt - June 19, 2022, 5:31 am

So I went to this party last night and was taking Evan shots, Jell-O shots (vodka) and crown and coke. Jesus I feel like shit right now lol

What's the worst hang over experience you've had?

Azythum - June 19, 2022, 5:35 am

I remember just one hangover when I was at university. I'm too wise to have more hangovers ahah.

Honestly, I rarely get hungover. I can get really drunk without waking up with a hangover. I mix everything too when I drink. The worst I have ever had is wake up with a decent headache that made me sluggish for the first 30 minutes but still got up a few hours after getting home at 3 AM lol.

Def my college days. Most of our shit was low-end since we didn't have the $ for top shelf, so nice surprise.

Chasing dubra and mixing whiskey led to many black out's

Vibe - June 19, 2022, 7:21 am

Some dude bet me 10 tabs of acid I wouldn't chug a bottle of jack Tennessee honey.

The next day about the time I drunk it I finally woke up and puked up everything started hurting and puking stomach bile. Any sip Of even water I threw up less then 5 minutes later, kept getting insanelly hot and sweating then freezing. Lasted til the next morning

I think I had the worst hangover after my brother's wedding. I drank unimaginable amounts of vodka for the health of newlyweds.

The end of this was that for two days I was lying in bed without life. Since then, I avoid vodka as much as I can?

Well I've hacked my body not to get bad hangovers anymore by drinking a shitton of water with alcohol

Rionxee - June 19, 2022, 11:03 am

Alcohol poisoning, circa 2015 in college, greek rush week. Passed out from the Everclear and forced kegstanding. Worse than that was the other hazing we had to do along with the binge drinking, never have been that sick from alcohol, pledge brother called an ambulance for me finding me in a bush outside with vomit all over me, I was sick for 5 days after that.

In March of last year, I was moving states and driving there. Stopped overnight at the city I used to live in. Ended up meeting up with my old tattoo artist and we went out. First time I'd got drunk in over 3 years at that point + I had an 8 hour drive to take on starting that following morning.

After a heavy two days drinking at a party and taking MD and coke all night, that's when you will know what a hangover really is.

The day after my bachelor's party. I don't remember most of that night. There were us pre-gaming from the car prior to crawling to each bar, met some bikers, played some pool, saw an ex, then blackness until waking up to my then, but now ex-wife. She had all sorts of fun too, and so I went to the fridge to get us snacks and as much bottled water I could carry. It was like a migraine, but multiplied a thousand. I don't even know how either of us got home.

@#$% you, but yes. xD

I wouldn't trade anything for my memories, it all means I lived and will only ever do as such, forever.

Ok, so for me ahemmm... Never, Have never had alcohol not planning to have, So the worst hangover for me could be i hadn't slept for like 2 days for some work and then how much i needed sleep only I KNOW, my head like dude either you sleep or i will make you sleep :D

Vitani's Mate - June 19, 2022, 11:40 pm

When I went to a friends house and I had wayyy to much to drink, I am surprised that I didn't die from alcohol poisoning.

Worst hangover ever, I was so fucking sick for the whole week, had violent vomit stages, headaches, stomach aches. Couldn't eat much since about 20 mins later I am just puking my guts out. lol I haven't really drank that much again.
