Have you ever had to cut off a relative for being too needy. I have this particular cousin who is above 18 who constantly nags me for just about anything tech support money,WIFI!,my debit card. Hes been fvcking with me everyday for the last 2 weeks if you ignore him hell just knock and knock for about 30 minutes and hell just return later to do all over again. I told him I didnt want to be bothered once and the dude just wouldnt leave and started arguing and insulting me at my front door.Hes like a mosquito or cockroach or something. My only option now is to move and just not tell him where i live.Have you ever had a nagging pest ?

Yes, just cut them off and move on. Severe all ties as quickly as possible. Change telephone numbers etc.

sometimes a "get the fuck off my lawn before i put your face in it" is all you need.

sounds like you arent getting your point across very well.

All of them. Blood ties are meaningless if they aren't willing to treat you with respect.

I hate anyone who can't be real, I'll help everyone but if you take advantage of me we are done.

Move to a different country, change your name as well. They can never reach out to you then.

Yes, but I struggle to cut off certain family/relatives even though I should, just because blood relatives have always been super closer/my childhood revolved around them, so that ends up makes me softer to them than I would to others

If its this Much its pretty straight forward, he is USING you and sucking you dry. Cut off ties and just go some place else, change numnbers and thats the end of it.

I had relatives who would nag be but your situation seems to be pretty extreme.
