Man oh man will Grubhub drivers be disappointed when you open the door and they're greeted with not-boobs.

Sad day for drivers everywhere.

My friend grabbed us food one time and they swore there was no "Nate" that ordered.

Turns out I ordered with this account and they were looking for a "Mr. Oppai".

Lmao

I've similarly had McDonalds ask "Is this order for 'The Captain'?" when I mistakenly ordered from a non-personal Google account.

Followed by my co-worker saying "uhhh, why did they just call you the captain?" as I pulled forward to the window.
