Is this for Android? I have seen a few in the past, but the latest security improvements to Android OS makes it harder to I access these features.

That makes more sense.
You can make one with this hooks library: <https://github.com/kwhat/jnativehook>

You can search the forum, there are tools that can do that

The best language for android malware, currently, is Kotlin with a firm understanding of touch ID injections for VNC like screen control.

Hey, mind explaining to me why the Java android RATs aren't good anymore? Why is Kotlin still good to go in that regard? What does Kotlin provide that Java does not currently provide, and what is java now missing that has now made it obsolete?

Thanks for your knowledge.

He's got a 1 month vacation now, unless he returns on a new account.

Hopefully no one gets caught up in this nonsense.
