Thread: You find this at a beach, wwyd?

skull - July 9, 2022, 5:12 am

Imagine you walk around the beach.

Suddenly finding this USB in a bottle.

What would you do?

Deany - July 9, 2022, 5:13 am

Put it in a cheap burner laptop of course

Gary - July 9, 2022, 5:14 am

I'd plug it into a library computer cause you got me fucked up if you think I would plug some random USB into my actual computer.

Smart guys, glad to hear.

I once saw this concert where they would throw a bunch of USB sticks out in the end as merch. I'm pretty sure anyone if their fans would open it up without thinking twice.

Smart choice. You are not curious of the content though?

Sounds like a good way to infect people that already have wallets lol

Yea, it's market targeting. It's a free idea for anyone interested ?

Please share the story if anyone end up during something like this ?

Isolate - July 9, 2022, 12:24 pm

Sounds like a great way to catch a virus, but that's what the library computer is for. :)

Maybe if it was lucky I'd catch some coins in it. :D

Velma - July 9, 2022, 12:45 pm

This is why I have separate desktop to keep breaking and keep fixing. But this would be one cool find.

I would also remove the cork from the USB, you never know it could just fry your port.

damn you are missing out on a great opportunity man, you could actually make someone's day, has happened before where I found USB's and I have managed to get them back to the original owner, I will never destroy someone's memories or work. USB's are dirt cheap I can just buy them.

Lilith - July 9, 2022, 1:23 pm

Guess my MBP is getting replaced or I'm about to find the secrets of the NWO that a whistleblower tried to get out into the world.

hayesh - July 9, 2022, 1:30 pm

SIM-5198344 - July 9, 2022, 1:32 pm

That bottle was from 2009 when btc first came out I am plugging it up to a laptop and claiming my treasure!

That or I'll plug it up and the NSA kicks my door in.

Beherit - July 9, 2022, 2:37 pm

Make a YouTube video with the title GONE WRONG in it.

Lynx - July 9, 2022, 3:12 pm

They can. I wouldn't care about a usual USB, but depending on design, it could easily catch my interest.

Fortunate - July 10, 2022, 1:39 am

Seems like it has suffered some water damage.

Not sure, would still take it and try to open it up on a VM.

I'm tempted to make some of these bottles!

What should I put in ?

Pretty clever if you ask me, imagine the boomer chumps who will actually plug this into their laptop.

Juoku - July 10, 2022, 9:39 am

I have a few laptops, I'd just reset one of them and plug this in it, worst case I'll destroy a laptop I never use, I'll just sell it on ebay lol

Yeah. I wonder what other methods could be used to get more installs ?

You could just leave a bucket of free usbs with a fake charity name on it in a public place or convention. Just put "please take one only" on the box.

Posting to random addresses in rich neighbourhoods would also work nicely

The right target ?

If I wasn't thinking straight, put it into my own laptop

Other than that maybe get a cheap laptop and plug it in there

Upgrader - July 10, 2022, 10:01 pm

As many others here, stick in a PC I don't care about/public computer.

No, it gets nullified. Especially if you do it in the hood, gone wrong, gone sexual.

I'd format it and transfer my homework folder into it :)

Mr. Robot - July 17, 2022, 8:40 am

I'd open up the USB and make sure it wasn't holding a charge, then run it through my Ubuntu phone via an OTG cable. The odds of them having a script setup to auto run anything via an OTG into a phone is extremely low. Then do some analysis on it and move on with my day.

Karxccc - July 17, 2022, 2:49 pm

Ngl i thought about plugging it to my main computer without thinking twice but after seeing the replies i'd def put it on a library pc

Lyrarei - July 17, 2022, 10:15 pm

I can already imagine my laptop needing elevation to plug that in.

Apocryphon - July 18, 2022, 2:36 am

Grab the USB and make sure noone sees me. I buy a cheap laptop, check it and it turns out it has 10,000 Bitcoins mined from 2012.

Damn, I'm rich!

Mentalki123 - July 18, 2022, 6:45 am
