I think this guy points out the obvious regarding the next 2 weeks, in terms of where the price action will take us. He didn't even cover the MT.GOX verdict which will have the MT.GOX Trustee pay out approximately 140,000 Bitcoins to the users that were hacked in 2014. Imagine being forced to hold Bitcoin, winning in a lawsuit and selling with a BIG profit. For them, it's not a bear market... it's the perfect bull market in this crazy world financial crisis that's going on at the moment.

My personal opinion is that the FED will hit us good, recession news will give us another smack in the face and that sell off will give us maybe another smack or two. Lucky for me, I am loaded with 30k$ ready to be spent by a very happy customer ?

What's your take on this?

My war chest is loaded currently at about 80%, I have been buying monthly, another dip will be very much welcomed.

Rate of inflation is higher than it was expected to be which means Fed is likely to raise rates another .75 which, when paired with the 140k coins, is a massive crash. I'm expecting somewhere around 12k, but it's impossible to accurately predict.

Btc 4h is bullish, m15 is bullish, daily is bearish, I expect a larger pullback in to 29190.0 - 31780.0 levels before either continuing the downside, or is we see a break and close above 32427.5 on the daily I am getting bullish
