Homework Hub

Homework Hub is HackForums' #1 Homework Completion Service.

Your homework will be completed by qualified, academic professionals who have been active in the industry for several years.

We offer a miscellany of subjects, paper types and paper formats designed for your personal academic level.

Disclaimer: We are unable to post the Discord server (200+ vouches; 400+ orders completed) and Telegram channel in this thread, due to HackForums' rules. We respond the fastest on Discord/Telegram.

I have a small online maths test for a job I've applied for. Should only take about 40 minutes to complete - is this something you could assist with?

Just here to leave my review after using this users service. After a week of exchanging dialogue and providing mock questions, this service and the user let me down massively. I had a 20 minute maths test that needed completing. He had me send the questions through discord and despite having 3 minutes per question, for the most part he did not reply with the answers, but only with "this one is confusing".

In the end, I had to guess most of the answers and I failed massively, scoring 6/18. The cherry on the cake is summarised by this reaction:

So, if you are using this service to complete a maths quiz or test, please ensure they are "normal math questions" and not questions based on percentages ?
