Yes, but they were inactive so I figured I'd try coming here for a quicker response. I figured it out.

you must provide direct link to plugin files, should look like this: domain.com/Plugin_1.plg @centro upload plugin file to github for example and right click on the download link and select "copy link", show should have something like github.com/...../raw/.....

You need a direct download link for the plugins. transfer.sh can do the job.

Also if you're having problem setting up PureMiner I'm here to help:

Thank you! Believe it or not, I never had a problem to begin with. I just thought I was reading "not valid" when my links were actually valid
