Mobius and PhantomOverlay have what you are interested for. They don't have presence in HF, but on an other prominent trading forum (EP). Both have their pros and cons.

Really ? I didn't know they were considered that bad. I have used both, and they were pretty good (except the ESP lag sometimes on morbius and the slight connection issues of PO). How good is the detection on interwebz though? Because I remember that their CS:GO cheat was actually pretty bad.

their cod hacks haven't had any detections since release here is a video of their cod cheat <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5x7AUYWFXQY> (basically the same throughout all the cod games)

It looks nice. I might actually try them when the new COD comes out.

Btw I just realized who you are. I liked your videos when you were uploading. Take care man ?

That looks incredible. I'm going to check it out and see if there's any controller support. Although I could just use REWASD or something similar I prefer not to.

This is what I ended up going for. So far I'm liking it. Definitely have to optimize the PC for better fps though as the esp drops it to 60-70 which to me is chalky when I was used to 120+ fps. But that's okay because I mostly wanted aimbot and it handles that perfectly.
