UE5 is definitely a game changer.

The trailer looked alright, I guess they couldn't really pay for higher quality car models lol.

I mean it's fan made, pretty sure all the assets are free to use assets.
Looks pretty nice tho.

Yeah looks decent for being fan made!

Doubt rockstar would go with ue 5 though :(

True. They have been using their engine for pretty long and keep updating it.

If I remember correctly, the driving part of the engine comes from their race game Midnight Club, which was a very nice game and had great handling.

GTA V graphics were also pretty astounding when it was released. Can't wait to see what they got for us in GTA VI.

Link in my thread is broken

TeaserPlay's YouTube studio made a concept video of GTA VI on Unreal Engine 5. It features Vice City, Liberty City and San Fierro in detail. Rumors say it may have multiple states from previous games and take place in the late 1980s with no official release date yet.

This would be so sick! I don't have a PS5 but if this were released I would rush out and get one. It's beautiful.

Casp?r - March 31, 2023, 10:29 am

Looks good n all but will probably need a 4090 to run it at 60 fps lol.

If you don't have a PC Cloud gaming is a good alternative.

Looks amazing, cant wait for GTA VI, I also cant wait for the future games that will use UE5. Some really cool technology involved.

CentryAgo - April 2, 2023, 12:54 am

GTA brings back too many good memories i cant have back for me
