I don't think someone would configure a bot that will ask questions about how to hack phone's mate ??

Why the fuck would someone configure a bot just to spam that type of questions ?
Also, that's his only post. Use your brain a little bit more, no need for this non sense mate ?

idk if they are feds but personally its a big red flag that they host the cnc for customers imo but people seem to not care if they do but yk its on them if they get fedded

The xLoader binary and formbook are closely related; 50% of functions are identical, and they're built by the same computer. Why would the author of formbook create a copy of his previous product, where the only difference is they are hosting the CNC themselves? The feds 100% knocked down their door and now they're trying to take down their customers with them. Either way it is a shady business practice, I advice everyone to stay the fuck away from xLoader and formbook from now on.

The fact is Xloader is safer for average botnet user!, if you're not a Pro (which 90% of malware users are not) then don't go around buying domain and host to host any botnet by yourself!. That's a real fact from experience.

2. I repeat, if you're not a Pro then your chance of getting fed is higher when you host your botnet yourself.

3. Btw, I'm not persuading anyone to buy xloader, if you can't deal with xloader's hosting it's totally fine by me!

and.....

The story above is 70% correct about the relationship between formbook and xloader,

One of the fact that seems unknown to any researcher is that xloader is 80% different to formbook in features.

no version of xloader takes screenshot
no version of xloader takes keystroke
no version of xloader takes browser forms
no version of xloader do password sniffing etc.

most core features of formbook don't exist in xloader and vice versa, vast majority of those articles are incorrect.
