Where exactly are you getting your pricing from?

I have been around runescape in general since classic value of accounts are far less and depend on various factors now days more so depending on quests and odd skills more so seeing people are insane for hcim and ironman (skillers and odd ducks).

Anyways this my two cents similar accounts valued being agility is at 84.

The breakdow:

84 agility ( no graceful? )

99 strength ( pretty common )

99 Fishing ( assuming you used barb fishing method? )
84 Hitpoints ( decent )

Quests:

Mithril gloves ( annoying too)
prayer Book ( annoying quest ) tasks ( cape )

I value at max with what i can say would be no more than

$125.00 USD

You need to provide a valid quest list done, non-tradable items and if their is an email or strikes on the account.

If you provided this i would value the account higher but until then max is 125.00.

People want completed accounts or something similar to speed up the process or be for a certain purpose this is why accounts typically hold better value.

makes no difference

No it does make a difference but that being said after looking more the going rate is closer to 159-215 max.

Assuming we are going off items like this

<https://www.eldorado.gg/osrs-accounts-for-sale/oa/a708c305-0ca3-4a7b-8da0-2071938b04d3>

with no quests done above

with various quests done and proper listing of whats done this is still going for

$175.00

<https://www.eldorado.gg/osrs-accounts-for-sale/oa/8fac200f-3c4f-485b-a424-3c4f8ead3f21>

I honestly have no interest in buying the account i just wanted to explain that it does matter.

Buying and selling accounts nowadays its annoying and hard to manage as many will pay third world countries to level then at low cost without the need of bots among other junk that use to be used a lot more.

Anyways if your going to sell it using a site like the one i listed is extremely safe and pretty low in terms of what they take even on higher amounts.

I sell various things on here and another site nothing runescape related anymore only buying them, its a pain to sell at a good price anymore.

Note:

If i had offended you that was not my goal as giving clear information was my only goal and i always love help when its given for free but that's just me.

Can you post us a price you'd like? I wouldn't mind having a slapping mauler to login & regret xD

Yeah that's insane considering the amount of time it takes to build the 99 str alone. I wouldn't even want to bother selling the account for that I've spent far too much time on it and would rather walk around with my cape and flex lmao. Although the accounts you linked are missing stuff this account has. Neither of those have 99str and one is missing quests and 55 slayer which is also a pain to get.

It doesnt have any bans and it does have a registered email but I'm providing original email access so yeah.

But either way 180$ straight up isn't worth it to even bother selling. Especially considering I have over 25m fishing xp

I agree with you i have a few hand trained accounts similar to this but the prices have went down a lot due to bigger players paying people in third world countries pennies to train accounts then sell them.

I personally play both versions of runescape the saddest part is my favorite baby i made on oldschool runescape is a hand trained account focused on range and max hp.

99 range 99 hp and a few others obby mauled maxed out as well as a 92 defense pure for the why not when not working.

Between these its valued still to low for me to sell.

Its rather annoying nowadays personally buying accounts is easier than selling them at a decent price.

Still play the game i just hopped off to login and setup a few Killing floor 2 servers and a few others games for a bit of quick cash.

This account is absolutely amazing. I only wish that I could afford to take it off of your hands. It would be greatly enjoyed!
