Thread: Promising small cap altcoins?

xVulnerable - August 15, 2022, 2:38 pm

Looking to throw $100 into a small cap altcoin that can potentially 10-20x in the next bull market. Any recommendations? No shitcoins please.

ep1capple - August 15, 2022, 3:09 pm

no such thing as promising small cap altcoins. Only thing that's promised in crypto land is BTC to 10x from here in the next 10-20 years due to guaranteed supply shock.

Only $100? Take $1000 and put it into something more stable.

Solana just upgraded its protocol to Quic (made by Google) and introduced a fee raising mechanism to combat bots.

They introduced a new android phone which is unlikely to succeed tbh but the innovation is there even if there is a bear market.

They have the most TPS, second most NFT volume to ETH(which is also a solid investment).

They have a ridiculous amount of developers.

Etc. etc. etc.

People hate one it which I understand, but it is definitely the second best L1 out, and best doesn't always mean best built.

honestly, there will be many that probably 100x, but long term go back to near 0

only long term play is Bitcoin

AMP- a lot of people talking about it the last few months. Some believe it's a top20 token, it's definitely putting in top20 token work. I have not bought any myself but thinking about grabbing 1M and holding for a few years.

I'll write this on a whim, because I've been sharing this in smaller dao's, but i'll post it here on the chance it does well. My play for you is DUST, that's right DUST.

<https://coinmarketcap.com/currencies/dust-protocol/>

Dust is the utility token of DeGods, holders are dropped dust when their DeGods are staked on Solana. It's currently sitting at 1.89 USD, but DeGods is planning an expansion collection to launch some time in the next month. This collection only will mint via DUST. The market sentiment is that this will absolutely sell out seeing as they are the top collection on Solana. Here's the math behind why I'm gonna be buying some of it.

y00ts, the new collection, is a 375 DUST mint, there's only roughly 5.7k/15k wallets with the 375 DUST to successfully mint the collection. Meaning for the rest of people who are given spots for the collection, they'll need to buy DUST. This equates to around 6 million dollars of inflow to the coin before the mint. Which is my exit point since it practically guarantees a pump.

You should go for the long term with ETH/BTC that's the best investment you can made I think .

Could you share these with me? I am kinda just now getting to a point in life where I could really invest in things, and the stock market isn't looking good anymore.

Dust is now 3.13 usd, would have been a great buy
