I'm sorry but I'm so confused.. I literally didn't see anything happening in the channel you were shilling? The command prompt said words sure, but didn't show anything going on to see it in action..?

Am I confused what your selling here? I expected to see messages in discord channel.. You had it open but then.... ??? Nothing.

It doesn't spam one Discord channel. You set a multiple (usually hundreds) of Discord channels. It sends your advertising message once in each of the channels every set period of time. In the video you can see in one of the discord channels it sent the message "Hey, check out my shilling service!", while the bot was still sending in the rest of the channels.

You should update your DEMO video. I know it's using 1 single token to spam other channels. But you forgot to show us that.

Who knows all the "msg sent" and "error" msgs weren't coded to be printed after x amount of time. Just saying from customer point of view.
