Thread: Known members of HF arrested for cyber related crimes

?lixir - August 19, 2022, 7:59 am

In Memoriam of those who lost their way and found themselves on the otherside of the law or were made an example of and demonized as a boogiemani.

(Sep 10, 2022 10:06 AM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Now do all the HF members who have degrees in computing and work in fortune 500 companies with 6 figure salaries. You'll see that it's a lot more of those. I don't disagree with this at all. You can find some in the testimonial and bragging rights sections. To say that HF has not had positive outcomes for some people would be a downright lie and would only create a half-truth. You also cannot condemn HF for the reason these guys were arrested. They made their choices and knew of the risks.

Some of you listed below are still active. If you would like to be removed, please let me know. Since you publicly acknowledged or openly spoke about what happened, I figured it was ok to list.

RIP to my crypter homies.

The blackshades drama was glossed over. I only know of two, anyway.

I'm Stanley HF's helper bot. The OP (original poster) of this thread wants everyone to see this page and has elected to bump it to the top of the showthread listing. Since HF doesn't want a ton of LQP (Low Quality Posts) this is the best method of bumping your content. There is a small ?yte fee for each bump. Any OP can bump any of their threads on HF from the linked icon on the top of their first post.

If you haven't already read the first post of this thread we encourage you to do so.

Thanks,
Stanley

Holy crap... I just don't see it, up to 35 years? I watched a person (on youtube) receive 4-12 years for beating their girlfriend to death. The man only got 4-12 years because beating his girlfriend to death was apparently a mistake, therefore it is considered manslaughter.

The justice system is faulty...

I replied and added your response to OP. I would like to add that some of the members were also portrayed as boogiemen and used to further a political agenda. Which is nasty.

Yeah, man. There is more, these were easy to find.

I knew most of them very well to well. This also excludes all the arrests from Carderprofit and a few others that are lesser known.

All in all, HF is one of the best sites in the world to go to to learn and develop highly effective skillsets.

As I open with all my students, "I'm gonna teach you enough skills to be dangerous. Dont get arrested, and dont mention my name if you do"

HF is the ultimate library of knowledge, and to quote Doctor Strange, "There is no such thing as forbidden knowledge, only forbidden practices".

What you do with what you learn here is your choice. Everyone here has agency, and ultimately, accountability. If you choose to get stuck on stupid, youll do it in a twin turbo'd V12 that can go from 0-Fucked in 0.01ms.

And @omniscient is right, he has been for a very long time. What we produce is a community. With any community is a criminal element. Its an unfortuante and sad, but simple truth.

When I got my start here, I was just like everyone else, a know-nothing shit skid stain on the internet, but I grew. Now I'm 33 and retired for 3 years, enjoying the high life because I put what I learned here to good use. A lot of people I came up with are in similar boats, but a bit more upriver due to shit financial decisions.

Overwhelmingly, the good outweighs the bad here, it always has.
