I honestly can't wait for this to drop, I used to play D.A.H back when I was a kid and I absolutely loved it.

Over it or not, if someone makes a great game even better, I'm happy to support them!

The second installment is definitely a lot better than the first one, and also much longer. The original game was made in 2006. That's a long time ago! I bet some people who are reading this weren't even born yet when it first dropped, which makes me feel old.

For anyone who's feeling nostalgic, here's some original gameplay:

I remember this game back on the OG xbox, used to play it as a kid. Played the 2020 remake on my xbox for a bit other month as well, probably will play this too if its in game pass.

What I'm curious to find out is whether or not it will run well on Linux using Proton. I absolutely plan to find out on release day and have a Windows partition all set up specifically for this game in case proton isn't enough.

How's Linux in general for gaming? I remember years ago there wasn't much support, although I don't have any use to run Linux.

Off topic I bought one of the emulator boxes this week has like 16000 games of all the old games on it. Been playing super Mario non stop lol

Honestly? I can't complain. All my favorite games run pretty well on Linux. Crusader Kings? Works like a charm since it's native. Cities: Skylines? Same thing, works native on Linux.

Especially now with the release of the Steam Deck I could even play Marvel's Spider-Man on Linux using Proton the day it came out. I don't particularly notice any stuttering or frame rate issues but then again I do run a beefy dev machine with 64 gigs of ram and an AMD RX 6900 XT so I might not be the best person to ask.

Congrats with your purchase by the way, those things are awesome. Fuck Nintendo and selling age-old games for full price. Feel free to let us know which one you bought!

It was mainly bought for my girlfriend cause she wanted to play Mario, I have a computer that's pretty beefy as well.

EXTREME MINI GAME BOX <https://a.co/d/dXa0gRI>

That's what I got, it was for sale at my states fair? It's not honestly the greatest, the Bluetooth receiver you have to be close to, but just the ease of turning it on and not having to mess with anything is nice. I'd recommend it for anyone who just wanted something for someone not to tech savvy, otherwise your better off just making your own or using a p/c

It's already released! Check your console store or if you're on pc it's on Steam!

Have enjoyed it quite a bit. I think it has like 20 hours of game time.

I'm Stanley HF's helper bot. The OP (original poster) of this thread wants everyone to see this page and has elected to bump it to the top of the showthread listing. Since HF doesn't want a ton of LQP (Low Quality Posts) this is the best method of bumping your content. There is a small ?yte fee for each bump. Any OP can bump any of their threads on HF from the linked icon on the top of their first post.

If you haven't already read the first post of this thread we encourage you to do so.

Thanks,
Stanley

Has anyone played it yet?

I've been waiting to see some reviews, I know I should just watch some gameplay on twitch or youtube.

Yes, played it from start to finish. Noticed some minor mission bugs that sometimes (once or twice) had me restart the mission, and other than that it's a solid game just like the original. The humor is out of this world good, but that's normal I guess for a game about aliens.

Is there any online multiplayer with this? I see there's local co-op.

Local multiplayer is available, but nothing online sadly. I wish, it would have been fun to play with random's online.

That's lame, used to play every day at a friends house growing up. Would've been cool to co-op it together with him again. Unfortunately he lives like 600 miles away now.

Was so fun I used to use telekinesis or something on the cows in the first one.. Remember playing for days on xbox.
