Thread: [\[Marketing Needed\]NFT Packs Launchpad \(Like pokemon cards, but with NFT's instead\).](#)

Hello everyone.

I've been working for the past 9 months on a fully decentralized autonomous NFT Launchpad (Live on Polygon Testnet), and i need a partner/help with marketing it, as I'm really really bad at the marketing part.

What issues does Seapad solve?

Usually, in order to create an NFT Collection, one would need to have created a project website (Minting page), and a smart contract.

This is usually very costly if you have no programming experience at all, and it requires you to trust a developer who might (Or might not) implement malicious code in your smart contract.

Seapad does it all automatically for the users, with a few clicks of a button.

Seapad generates a minting page and a smart contract, where users are able to purchase "packs", where each pack contains X amount of the collections NFT.

When someone purchases a pack, he can either open it to collect the NFTs from within it, or he can sell it unopened on marketplaces like Opensea or Rarible.

I'm looking for a serious partner that has experience with Digital Marketing. (Specifically NFTs or Crypto projects in general).

If you have experience with this please let me know.

You can DM me with previous experiences.

The website is <https://seapad.io>, and I've created a Lil youtube video for it.

Hope to hear from you, Regards D.
