You sir are full of crap, you deserve the negative rep you have gotten. So quit bitching about it. Regardless of working with escrow or not you're still full of crap and so is your so called product.

I can be the MM for the deals, no problem.

sticksdev - September 12, 2022, 7:06 am

Yeah, this is a scam. Don't buy.

Video shows him opening the doc with the hosted HTML file, however it does not show:

An antiscan.me or similar scan result

An video of him uploading to gmail (and it not getting flagged)

Sure, the doc does open calculator, but does it stand up to his claims? And asking to go off site? Extremely sus.

Also claiming to be known here when he joined this month.

Be careful, don't buy.

So from the video, you never sent the docx to anyone to see if it gets filtered on the 2nd stage of the email process for preventing spam and or malware, and your windows VM that you ran the docx on had no internet connection and that means the windows cloud based AV protection is not in use, i recommend showing a video of you doing it on the latest version of windows 11 with full internet access showing the allowed threats under the AV as well as windows exclusions disabling your internet also ruins the purpose of windows defender so its not FUD

__Digital__ - September 12, 2022, 9:08 am

He/she is going to do nothing but scam people anyways with public stuff. Don't fall for it or allow him to take you off site period. He/she wants to seem reputable but they are not. They will have a response everytime to someone who calls them out as we all have. It is honestly pathetic how lame they really are.
