yeah simple discussion what are peoples thoughts on scamming pedophiles

CompletedMaze - September 12, 2022, 3:27 pm

Of course, scamming a paedophile is not as bad as scamming an honest person.

But scamming is still scamming. Trying to justify it based on who you're scamming is a delusion.

I agree with what you're saying, but sometimes it's hard not to think it's a beautiful thing.

The one time I'd approve of swatting. Don't even bother taking their cash.

Omniscient - September 12, 2022, 4:28 pm

I think that in order to "scam a pedophile" you have to be just as unethical and immoral as they are.

I agree with this wholeheartedly. Why think committing an act that is still wrong becomes justified when done against someone who has also done wrong?

I never understand it.

mickeh - September 12, 2022, 5:01 pm

when i use to e-whore i use to add the pedos then scam them, all the others i use to just sell pictures

Livewire - September 12, 2022, 5:06 pm

I've been there with exhorting.

Didn't bother me a bit to scam people when they are sick fucks.

On the other hand, scamming honest people who just wanted connection and to talk to you is why I quit doing it.

reggiethaveggie - September 12, 2022, 10:04 pm

you shouldn't just not feel bad about scamming pedophiles, you should try and actively go out to scam them in particular. fuck em

?nxy - September 13, 2022, 3:13 am

Nobody deserves to be scammed.

trojohn - September 13, 2022, 3:51 am

Scamming is not enough imo.

DashPHP - September 13, 2022, 6:52 am

Not fond of scammers but I wouldn't be upset hearing about it.

th3s3cr3t0n3 - September 13, 2022, 6:55 am

Jesus.

The posters here (won't name them) who are literally saying that you are ethically/morally similar to a paedophile by scamming them are basically intellectually unequipped, or have been completely brain fucked by the system/current culture that is being asserted.

Nope. Untrue. So let's say I scam some pedo for $5k. Turns out that money is from selling kiddie porn. You think there is any grey area in that morally? You find a pedo, you should work to have them arrested. Scamming them is just a justification for doing something illegal to benefit yourself.

GITHUB - September 14, 2022, 12:05 pm

fuck them, its survival in this world.

A valid scenario and point, Omniscient.

If it were me personally, I'd take their money followed by working to have them arrested. Reason being is that one could say the source of any funds could be from a source of immorality. Money is just money (to me), I fail to see how by taking someone's money that you are playing any part in how they sourced it. Lets say you have some GBP/USD notes in your pocket, the chances are extremely high that those notes have been involved in some form of crime or are unethical in some other way, but do you consider that when you use them? The pedo's money would be spent somewhere else anyway.

Another scenario, albeit unrealistic, is that lets say you've seen known drug dealers drive away and they happened to leave a bag of money in the street (forget the reasoning). You look in the bag and you see say $5k in there. There is 100% no way you could be caught taking it for yourself. Lets propose you are yourself in debt, or otherwise financially destitute. By the logic you have used, you would be unethical/immoral to take the money for yourself, and instead you should hand it to the police and give them information about what you witnessed, and get a thank you and sent on your way back to your life where you have no money. To me, that doesn't sound like it enforces good morals or made the situation any more just.

The problem is this (in my eyes), that being super moral/ethical doesn't really get you anywhere in life. Ultimately, you are very much alone in life especially with money (well for a lot of people anyway). So, if someone is going to scam for money no matter what, I'd prefer they scam someone like a paedophile and deprive them of their money, than someone who is more innocent, a 'good person' if you will. Some justification is better than none. Making a paedophile struggle for money is better than making a single mum, or an elderly person struggle for money.

To clarify, I disagree with scamming generally having been scammed myself through various ways in my life.

Haha! Yes I do agree with this. In the UK they'll give them a house and new identity and maybe a fine (so the government don't mind taking their money or the source of it).

Bastille - September 15, 2022, 5:04 am

That makes me think about an episode of Black Mirror (E03 - S03), good episode, and sad at the same time.

Icarus_Development - September 15, 2022, 10:46 pm

Dyne 100% + on this!!!The best cure for them is to send them to JAIL and let them get fuc... by prisoners until they die!!??

What made you search up pedophile on hack forums?

SIM-5244392 - October 2, 2022, 7:12 am

Sure, why not? Terrible people

???? - November 5, 2022, 9:28 pm

I don't think that's a bad idea. Maybe get more sophisticated and get a bigger payday targeting extremist groups. If you know what you're doing, mobile, and have the resources. These days chaos it might even be possible to target a rogue government. Anybody remembers that Iranian guy in 2011 that got paid 100,000 to blow up that ambassador in DC? Very serious and dangerous area. Extremists in the middle east will wet their pants knowing you're an operator in the west needing money for something more sophisticated than martyrdom.

The Pact - November 5, 2022, 11:10 pm

People should realise that extortion is a serious crime if you try to scam AND extort a pedo for money. That's probably not a path you want to take with ewhoring.

I remember someone talking about doing that on HF back in like 2012.

Then when the police take their phone they will see you doing some illegal sh*t. ?
