Wasn't there one similar to this years back? Not for bytes but it was the youtube award or something.

I vaguely remember making a YouTube video with a piece if paper for HF

Yes.

But that was to win an award and for a video.

I'm gonna be honest I don't really understand the purpose of this.

A majority of the forum won't even participate because of the picture and Twitter requirements.

Nothing like partially exposing your face and key identification points through a piece of paper using a photo taken with your phone that includes metadata of your location for 100K bytes.

You can use a vpn/rpd and a throwaway account.

Omniscient - September 13, 2022, 6:52 am

Well this seems like a huge fail.

Sorry, gonna just end this then. Had two people participate in first 12 hours. That's shit.

I'll think of something else to do the 100k Giveaway without the PI.
