Anybody remember this game? I used to play it a lot on PS1. It would make a great battle royale game to break the fps trend that most battle royales have focused on recently.

Fuck yeah man! Twister Metal was the shit back in the day! Can't wait for the remaster! Hahahaa

This game was the shit. We used to play it for hours. I would love a re-make of this with current mechanics.

I used to play Twisted Metal on PSP back in the 2000s. Ah, those were the days!

The junkyard map where you could pick people up with the crain and drop them into death? Twisted Metal 4 was my favorite and that was a part of it. A remaster would sell so well, I'd buy that shit so fast haha

Didn't they remake it recently? I loved it back in the day

That picture brings back so many memories. That was the first map you start on if I remember correctly and if you won you progressed on. Dumped a crazy amount of hours into TM4

Was just reading up on it and it looks like a remake is coming in 2023 alongside a TV show. May be interesting but I'd kill for a remaster of 1-4 from the PS1 days

Twisted metal really was so fun. I know if I played it now I'd hate it though lol
