Funny how you can't wait to graduate, then get all nostalgic for all the good times you had..

And then realise you have no idea how to get a job. Actually I did have a plan but the government cancelled all the internships I was going for. I have masters degree with honours anyway that was a long time ago for me.

Huge congratulations OP!

That's how life works my man lmao. You strive to finish off education because you're put into it as such a young age and are expected to add extra years with college.

Sadly you then spend your life wishing you were a kid again lmao.

Komodo - December 21, 2022, 6:44 am
