Thread: No-KYC Automated Crypto-to-Crypto exchange

D3RP - October 2, 2022, 2:13 am

Hi Guys,

I've known the team at altquick.com for many years.

They offer a (with fee) automated crypto-to-crypto exchange service that works without kyc at all.

Please check them out!

I've forwarded your question to our main developer, I will get back with an answer thanks!

You "know the team for many years" but you will "forward to our main developer" . Sounds to me you are part of the team and just promoting the service in which case you might as mention it in your first post.

Yeah he's definitely promoting it because he's part of the team lmao. The cat is outta the bag on that one now haha.

I'm also curious as to whether or not your service is different or better than other (already reputable) services like SideShift in any way.

This has to be one of the worst UIs I've seen... I think I will stick with ChangeNow.io

Also interesting recent "Trades":

If you need that kind of service there is a better alternative with decent fees and no KYC, just a CC for purchases or use SWAP crypto2crypto.

Well our service just buys directly from the (bid/ask) exchange liquidity. So It's probably not better in anyway, other than if the fees were more competitive.

Other than that, Altquick.com and Freebitcoins.com have some of the fastest customer service out there, and "we're" based in arkansas, usa.

The owner even has his phone number for support.

I helped design the full exchange bid/ask. ?

I can guarantee you that those trades are legitimate, though I cant rationalize why the user(s) did those quantities for the trades lol.
