

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Looking to hire an experienced mentor

server.blink3641 - October 3, 2022, 1:47 am

Hey Guys,

I am new to the forum and I am looking for an experienced mentor that I can reach out to with any questions I may have about hacking, networking, social engineering, and other related topics. I am really skilled and knowledgeable at this point on all of these topics I just keep finding myself running into issues that a mentor or an expert I could call would be awesome. It would be great to have someone I can talk to about troubleshooting these issues so I can move past this mid range area of skills and really get to finish more advanced hacking techniques. I am very easy to teach and communicate with as I learn fast and will always treat you with respect. I will pay you for your help and we can discuss how much just send me a PM if interested.

Thanks ?

Telegram @madmax364

Email tim5262@sudomail.com

DashPHP - October 3, 2022, 1:49 am

I have 12 years of programming experience, primarily in the web development sector.

Great field to be in no capp.

server.blink3641 - October 3, 2022, 1:56 am

Oh nice. I just recently completed my Networking and Security class and I have my CompTIA main exams scheduled in a few weeks. I get to start another course shortly after I get my exam finished. I love it I just hate getting stuck on issues that are extremely difficult to just google and research because its usually such a specific and unique problem if that makes sense

I have also been into trading crypto alot here lately lol

DashPHP - October 3, 2022, 1:59 am

(Oct 3, 2022 01:56 AM)server.blink3641 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Oh nice. I just recently completed my Networking and Security class and I have my CompTIA main exams scheduled in a few weeks. I get to start another course shortly after I get my exam finished. I love it I just hate getting stuck on issues that are extremely difficult to just google and research because its usually such a specific and unique problem if that makes sense

I have also been into trading crypto alot here lately lol

Yup i understand! You just gotta keep at it and dont fall back.