Thread: Ever had Taco Johns?

SIM-2502833 - October 6, 2022, 5:25 pm

Not a big fan of Taco Bell, but I work for an electrician subcontractor in Ohio and apparently they plan on building a bunch of stores here soon. Anyone ever had it? What's good on the menu?

Pikachu - October 6, 2022, 5:36 pm

Someone just mentioned this restaurant chain in my Taco Bell VS Del Taco thread, I have never heard of it till then but sounds like something i must try if i ever come across it

They used to have 'mini quesadillas' at taco bell for like 2 dollars, and I literally loved them. Ever since they removed them I have hated it. I hope Taco Johns has an alternative.

I actually made this thread because yours reminded me of the matter.

They have minis at del taco for sure, I think they're a dollar unless inflation hit them too

There's a lot of fast food places that sound good that are exclusive in the US or even some states. I remember when Vegas had shown me a menu from Raising Cane's and that shit looked fire.

As per the title of your thread, I've never heard of Taco Johns before. Is it like Papa Johns lol?!

Raising Canes is pretty good. I was eating it eatlier today while we were chatting. The sauce is the special thing. The tenders are uniquely better than most restaurants.

I used to work there and built a few for my company too. Their corporate sucks. But they dunk all tenders in milk and egg before frying, and everything is made to order.

Only ever seen two in my life in the UK, and both were in the last few months in two different big cities. Recently started trying out Big John's though, and I love their food.

I had never even heard of it until this thread. After looking it up it's about 1-2 hours away from me. I'll add it to my list of places to stop at when I'm in the area.

LeetSpeed - October 7, 2022, 10:26 am

Looks like I'll have to check this one out. I love tacos.
