Thread: Clash of Clans TH15 Update

What do you guys think about the new Clash of clans' Town Hall 15 update?

I hope you might have seen the sneak peeks.

They have released New pets, new spell, new defensive buildings and new troop.

I really love the colour of the newer buildings. And the spell and troops give many number of strategies.

If you're still a COC player, share your views on the new update.

I'm almost maxed th13 so I still got a while to go but I definitely like the new troop I get in cc. As for the colors I'm not a fan

I havent played Clash of Clans in a longggg time. I think the last time I played they just came out with TH12? I was a maxed TH9 and was too lazy to go to TH10.

I like the purple colors. But the troop, hero skins and the village theme are not quiet impressive in my opinion.

I had no idea this game was still around. I remember all the ads back in the day. My uncle was so addicted to this game.

It is still up and running with numerous updates. If you are an old player, you will get a different experience.

I've legit never played CoC once in my life but I know a ton of people that do and say it's beyond addicting.

I remember back when Judge Dredd was still active and he showed us his account purchases.. $90,000+ of in-game purchases. Absolutely insane.

90,000 is an insane level of addiction.

It actually is though. I remember when he posted the screenshot of his payment history, literally was over $90,000

I think it was right around $92k+

And I thought I was bad for dropping around $2.5k~ on Fortnite lol.

I too had spent a lot of money. In-game purchases numb our brains to think.

What is your Town Hall level? And how much money have you spent on in-game purchases?
