They always seem to be late delivering things for me or they constantly place them in the wrong box, today they had my new mechanical switches for my keyboard placed in a neighbors box.

This is so frustrating as it happens so frequently.

Yin Yang - October 11, 2022, 6:11 pm

Damn, I've never had issues with them

I've never had an issue with UPS before. Probably an issue with the driver over an issue with USP. Incompetent people doing their jobs.

I've never really had that issue in places I've lived.

Do you live in an area where the addresses are numbered confusingly?

Gary Clark Jr. - October 11, 2022, 6:14 pm

They should abolish the postal service and replace it with something private.

Gary - October 11, 2022, 6:15 pm

What type of keyboard switches did you get?

Oh.

Maybe your USPS people in your area just suck.

I've generally never had bad experiences here, but I also don't order stuff too often.

They blow, when they get it right they are great however they get it wrong equally as frequent as they get it right.

USPS around here sucks for me. They are low-staffed so we may not get mail for 4-6 days and then get a bucket load. Can't count on them if you need something in a timely manner.

Yet we keep giving them more and more funding and they are getting worse and worse.

Yeah ever since Covid, they have tremendously gone down-hill. Before that, they were pretty consistent.

Eh they've been shit for about 10 years.

Mac Miller - October 11, 2022, 8:01 pm

usps sucks dick and always take years getting me my shit

if only email was a thing

Laughing Man - October 11, 2022, 8:09 pm

I ship USPS cheap, or I use FedEx.

UPS is worse hands down.

Nate - October 11, 2022, 10:10 pm

I personally haven't had any problems with them , except long lines at post office some times whenever I had to go

Juoku - October 11, 2022, 11:23 pm

That's annoying AF, I always used to get my packages to the door and early, I only had an issue one time, and it was when they basically put my package in a completely different building.
Ended up opening a dispute and such

Deany - October 11, 2022, 11:24 pm

Every time I get stuff delivered via UPS it looked like they kicked it around like a soccer ball

Charlie Sheen - October 11, 2022, 11:33 pm

Fedex is the worst. USPS is bad because they have no problem lying, just the other day they said that my front door was unreachable.. I don't have a gate or a fence? No dog or anything out front.

UPS is solid, except where some of their drivers can be assholes and lazy about shit. They have a thing called UPS Access Point, and drivers will get lazy and load up those access points, the person that's supposed to receive the package sometimes never gets a note or a knock on the door.

Deany - October 11, 2022, 11:41 pm

Also fedex be having some crackheads working for them, I swear. Literally 3 times they delivered my $1000 anime pre orders to house behind mine lmao.

Vitani's Mate - October 12, 2022, 12:01 am

I never really have an issue with them when I am getting something from US. lol

I had similar issue with some shipping few months back and complained, last month order something from China and that same shit happened again

sweatpants - October 12, 2022, 12:37 am

I don't really get packages shipped by USPS but this week they're taking there sweet time collecting items for shipping

Michael - October 12, 2022, 2:37 am

Never really had any issues with them, they seem to deliver good.

Sucks you had issues with them.

Seaking - October 12, 2022, 6:31 am

They are either the best service i've ever used, or they stomp my packages and let them fall of trucks and get lost and my stuff takes 2 weeks to arrive. It's never just an average mailing experiences.

Yea bro, USPS TSA, etc. A lot of those jobs not many people want to work. So theres a heavy load on the few employees they have. Sucks for the consumer us but, since RONA nobody wants to work.

Well, everyone got accustom to sitting on there ass making 15 bucks an hour.

Cooligan - October 12, 2022, 6:51 am

USPS / UPS / FedEx / Amazon / etc.. all suck in their own ways lol.

I've worked for Amazon in numerous departments including as a driver and I can assure you all that the fact packages get out at the rate they do is a sheer miracle. The warehouses are mayhem, the employees hate their lives, people are constantly getting fired or let go right before their 6 month mark hits so they don't get to receive any of their benefits -- it's hell basically.

Working as a driver isn't bad, you're your own boss once you leave in the morning, but still there's just nothing but headaches everyday working for companies like these. That and huge over-expectations from delivery company managers toward their drivers, it's crazy. The money isn't bad though which is 90% of the reason why people put up with them.
