the first bike ever was called a swiftwalker and had no pedals, you were just supposed to walk while sitting on a bike.pretty funny

Prettykitty - October 12, 2022, 6:16 pm

Oh right, I saw some news about someone riding that, forgot what exactly but it was neat.

Discreet - October 12, 2022, 6:17 pm

The guy in the background is looking pretty dope.

mickeh - October 12, 2022, 6:23 pm

It reminds me of bike little kids learn to keep there balance on

Jinu - October 12, 2022, 7:09 pm

That looks funny but I see this for the first time. :D

Guy is zooming on the swift walker

vegetajgd - October 13, 2022, 4:30 am

Well although how to ride one, but never owned one. So yeah thats about it :)

Looks like it's only useful when the slopes is going down ?

molly69 - October 13, 2022, 4:40 am

Also it was probably owned by wealthy people only lmao

I was going to say the same thing, my mom got that for my son one year, thought it was the dumbest thing. Never used it.

Koyote - October 13, 2022, 5:28 am

Looks uncomfortable for the old balls

Blockonome - October 13, 2022, 5:50 am if I were alive during this time period, 100% I would have bought one of these and felt cool about it.

Yeah I don't like the fact that there are no brakes

VNT - October 13, 2022, 6:08 am

No needs for brakes ahaha peoples must have been throught somes serious down hill action

Mac Miller - October 13, 2022, 8:06 am hills woulda been decent!!

I mean going downhill would be a breeze. So if you had to go uphill to get some food coming back home would be way quicker and you could load up the bike. Tis a win - win.

Just make sure everything you need is downhill, and then just keep moving house more and more downhill until you've reached the centre of the Earth.
